

Englishman in this assembly of the Irish nation," said Mr. Griffith, with another bang on the table.

Mr. Childers tried to explain that his nationality was a private affair, that he had been out of sympathy with English policy since he was 18 years old, but the speaker ruled the discussion out of order.

Sovereignty Motion Starts Row.

Another angry scene arose when Speaker MacNeill left his chair to introduce a motion affirming that Ireland was a sovereign nation deriving its sovereignty from the will of the Irish people and the facilities and accommodations granted to the other states would be governed by the right of the Irish government to safeguard its liberties.

Mr. de Valera immediately moved an amendment that the Dail reaffirm the declaration of the Irish republic made on Jan. 1, 1919. Liam De Roiste, who was in the chair, ruled the amendment out of order and Mr. MacNeill withdrew his original motion rather than to cause another division of the Dail.

Mr. de Valera insisted on knowing whether the republican army would be kept intact and he got an assurance from Mr. Mulcahy that it would be. The former president did not get the assurance he wanted, however, which was that it would not be used by the provisional government to maintain order.

It is probable that Cathal Brugha (Charles Burgess), the former minister of defense, who is one of the most bitter of the anti-radicalists, will try to split the army and he is known to have some followers in Cork and Kerry, but it is likely that Mr. Mulcahy's popularity will prevent any serious weakening.

Pope Sends Congratulations.

At the opening of the session this morning a message of congratulations to Ireland from Cardinal Gasparri in the name of the pope was read by the speaker.

On the motion to elect Mr. Griffith president of the Dail an acrimonious debate immediately began raging.

It might have been going on yet had not J. J. Walsh of Cork intervened with a closure motion which was accepted by the speaker in spite of loud shouts of protest from the De Valerians.

De Valera and Followers Bolt.

It was at this point that the De Valerians walked out, knowing that they would be defeated on the closure motion. There was no record of the exact number that left, as no roll call had been taken in the morning, but sixty-five remained in the hall and elected Mr. Griffith unanimously.

Among the bolters was Robert Barton, a former English officer and a member of the London delegation, who while voting for the treaty in accordance with his promise, has done all in his power to defeat it. The scene had a touch of drama and passion. When the closure motion was accepted Mr. de Valera made his statements and walked from the room. The Countess Markiewicz and Mary MacSwiney rose immediately, calling on all republicans to follow. Then all rose and walked out.

Called Deserters by Collins.

As Countess Markiewicz passed Mr. Collins she shook her fist in his face and shouted, "Up with the republic." Ada English waved her hand to Mr. Griffith and Mr. Collins and called "Good-by." Mrs. Pearce, the old mother of Padraic Pearse, who was executed for his part in the 1916 rebellion, was almost weeping as she left.

While the deserters were crowding around the door Mr. Collins rose to his seat and shouted, "We will rally the Irish people around us and forget those who have deserted Ireland in her hour of peril."

The bolters went into another room in the university building and held a private meeting, where they decided to return to their seats in the Dail after lunch.

Bombs in Belfast Hurt Children.

BELFAST, Jan. 10.—A bomb exploded this afternoon in West Belfast, injuring a little girl. Windows in the neighborhood were shattered. An outburst of shooting followed, but was quickly quelled by the police. This evening two more bombs were exploded in a street where a number of children were playing. Six of them were injured by splinters.

GARLAND TAKES LEGACY ONLY TO GIVE IT ALL AWAY

Middleboro, Mass., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—It now transpires that Charles Garland, 22 year old farmer, accepted the $1,000,000 legacy of his father only to give it away. He will keep a mere pittance for himself, possibly $500. One-third of the fortune is to be settled on his wife and child, from whom he is living apart, and the balance, save the pittance for himself, he plans to distribute among ten close friends, confident that they will make good use of it.

Garland insists he has only slightly modified the theories of life that led him to refuse the inheritance when he became of age. His decision now to accept the sum is in reality, he says, merely a plan to dispose of it, so he can once more be a poor but happy farmer, content with his arduous labor and his books and his thoughts.

Garland is tall, though slightly stooped in figure, even-tempered, cordial, slow spoken, earnest. He believes he can make his farm support him.

ROME, Jan. 10.—Princess Radziwill announces that the Sacred Rota Tribunal of the Vatican has annulled the marriage of her son, Prince Radziwill, to Miss Dorothy Deacon, which took place in 1919 at London.

Miss Deacon was the daughter of the late Edward Parker Deacon of Boston. She was noted for her beauty and had long been prominent in society in London and Paris when she married the prince. Previous dispatches reported the princess had sought annulment of her marriage, basing her plea on the ground that she had not entered voluntarily into that state.

The Duchess of Marlborough, who before her marriage to the Duke last June was Miss Gladys Deacon, is a sister of Princess Radziwill.

$209,000, Court Is Told

The fortune believed to have been possessed by the late Peter S. Grosscup, when he retired from his position of judge of the United States Court of Appeals yesterday shrunk to $209,000 when the will was admitted to probate before Assistant Judge Paul Corke yesterday.

At the time of the former jurist's death in mid-ocean last September, it was believed a second will would be found, but it was not.

Under the terms of the will Mrs. Katherine Grosscup Moon, 73 East Cedar street, was left $100,000, and other bequests indicated at the time the estate would amount to more than $500,000.

Depositions filed by Attorney William Garnett of witnesses to the will and other witnesses who testified when the effects were opened in New York, showed that only $3,500 in travelers' checks was found to add to the $298,500 estate. Besides Mrs. Moon, three nephews are beneficiaries.

IS GARB OF EVE IMMORAL? COURT EYES FIG-LEAF

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune)

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—A high Prussian court was called upon today to decide whether a piece of cloth the size of a fig leaf is a dress and also whether lack of clothes on the stage excites evil passions.

Upon these questions depends the guilt or innocence of Celly de Reidt, Germany's most famous and most sensational dancer, about whom almost every American has written in his letters home. Celly, who admits dancing clad chiefly in a black bean chain, told the court her work is sold art, whereas the American girl shows, with their silk tights, actually are sex exciting.

"Clothes," said Celly, "serve to accentuate and not hide sex. I would prefer to dance naked because there is nothing immoral in portraying art in the nude, but I bow to Frau Grundy to the extent of a fig leaf."

On Thursday the purple clad and wigged jurist will go to the theater to see Celly's real nude self in performance.

Wabash Cuts Fare Between New York and Chicago

The Wabash Railroad company yesterday announced restoration of the differential passenger rates, following the interstate commerce commission's acceptance of the tariffs. The new rates show a reduction of $2 in the Chicago-New York fare, which, with the elimination of the war tax, represents a reduction of $4.58 in the fare between the two cities, compared to the tariffs in effect before Jan. 1.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—The strike of gold miners, which was declared last Sunday, became effective today in all the mines throughout the Transvaal. The strike was precipitated through an attempt by the mine workers to reorganise the labor force by greater employment of native labor, particularly in the semi-skilled occupations, in order to decrease working costs and thus meet the decreased price of gold.

NEWBERRY 'LINE,' WABBLING, MAY EVADE TEST VOTE

Talk of Reference Back to Senate Committee.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Under a relentless bombardment by the opposition, the forces defending Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan against the ouster movement showed unexpected signs of weakening today.

Several new defections from the Republican ranks were reported and the outlook for success for the Michigan senator was not so promising as it appeared after Mr. Newberry's impressive personal defense in the senate yesterday. Republican leaders continued to predict victory by a reduced majority, the margin being cut down to about three.

With the outcome hanging upon so narrow a balance, the possibility arose that the whole case might be referred back to the privileges and elections committee for further investigation.

World Welcome Evaded.
Opposition leaders were reported to have ready a motion to recommit the case with instructions to the committee to summon Mr. Newberry as a witness and to demand new evidence bearing upon the expenditure of money in the Michigan campaign.

A number of senators, perplexed about the stand they should take, might welcome such a way out of a puzzling situation. By voting to recommit the case they would take sides neither for nor against Mr. Newberry, and final action in the matter could then be postponed until such a time as it could no longer figure as an issue in the approaching 1922 congressional campaign.

No poll has been taken in the question of recommitting the case, but it was predicted in some quarters that, if the opposition decides to formally offer the motion, it might easily command a majority.

Held Futile Conferences.
Wavering senators on the Republican side, such as Capper of Kansas, Willis of Ohio, McNary of Oregon, Polk of West Virginia, held conferences during the afternoon in an effort to reach a decision for united action. They are trying to agree upon a policy of "sink or swim" together. They were unable to reach a definite conclusion, and in the end they probably will divide according to their own judgment.

Following the adjournment of the senate, Senators Lodge, Smoot, Spencer, New and Curtis, Republican leaders, held a long conference. There was some talk of withholding a vote until the return of Senator Johnson of California, who is expected to arrive in Washington Thursday or Friday. Senator Johnson is being counted on for Newberry.

May Vote Tomorrow.
It was decided, however, to bring on a vote at the earliest possible time. A proposal was made to the Democrats to vote tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, but that was rejected. Just when a vote will be reached is problematical. It may not be reached until Thursday.

All the speeches delivered today were against Mr. Newberry. Senator Walsh of Montana, Democrat, declared that the only scandal in the American navy during the war occurred in the New York office, which was in charge of Senator Newberry, then a lieutenant commander in the navy. He told the senate that the files of the navy department contain a mild reprimand, administered to Commander Newberry because of assignments given those under his command. Senator Walsh declined to furnish details, referring inquirers to the files of the navy department.

Other speeches against Mr. Newberry were delivered by Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican, and Senators Ashurst and Robinson, Democrats.

Borah Opposes Newberry.
Senator Borah enumerated his conclusions as follows:

"1. That the primary is a part of the election process, and the improper use of money in the primary was the same effect upon invalidating the election as the use of money at an election.

"2. That the amount expended in this election was such as to lead to the conclusion that it was intended to did, corruptly affect the results of the primary.

"3. That no man can be the beneficiary of a corrupt election when such corruption was had in his behalf—whether he personally participated in the corrupt methods or not.

Done in Newberry's Name.
"4. That the committee which expended this money was Newberry's committee. If not actually selected by him, it was accepted by him and he cooperated with it so that the committee's acts become his acts.

"5. That Mr. Newberry had such knowledge of the expenditure of the money and the doing of the committee as to charge him with responsibility for whatever the committee did.

"6. That the state statute was repeatedly violated.

"7. That the federal statute not yet declared unconstitutional was violated.

"8. That the action, being tainted with corruption and controlled through the use of money, the same is void and the seat occupied by the sitting member should be declared vacant.

"No one," said Borah, "justifies the amount of money which has been expended in this election. It is condemned alike by those who support or oppose Newberry."

NAB 2 BANDITS HALF HOUR AFTER STEALING $2,750

Capt. Kelliher Displays
Iron Nerve.

Half an hour after three bandits had held up and robbed a messenger for the Community State bank of $2,750 at Ashland boulevard and Polk streets yesterday, two of the robbers were captured and the loot recovered by Capt. Patrick Kelliher with a squad of men from the Maxwell street police station, who surrounded the house at 1817 Edgemont avenue into which the money bags were being carried by the thieves. The Community State bank is in Roosevelt road, just west of Ashland.

The two men arrested are Thomas Flannigan and Abraham Schaffner. The third man, who drove the bandit car, escaped. Mrs. William Arrie and her husband, who live at the Edgemont avenue address, are also being held.

The quick work of the police was commended by Max Shulman, president of the bank, who was following several blocks behind the messenger's car in another automobile in which $40,000 in bonds and $10,000 in bills were being carried.

Money in Twenty-nine Bags.
The $2,750 taken by the robbers was being transferred to the National City bank by Benjamin Perlestein, a messenger for the Community State bank, and his helper, Lawrence Caswell, colored.

As the machine driven by Perlestein neared Polk street and Ashland boulevard a Buick touring car, without license plates, but bearing the monogram "J. P." drew alongside.

Three men with revolvers ordered Perlestein to pull over to the curb. He did. One robber jumped on the running board of the bank's car and forced Perlestein to drive a half block east in Polk street. There 29 bags containing the money were transferred to the robbers' car, which drove east to Garibaldi place and disappeared.

Shortly after Capt. Kelliher and his men started out on the trail of the bandits a call came to the station notifying the police operator that three men were carrying sacks into a house at 1817 Edgemont place.

Police Surround House.
Capt. Kelliher, with Sergts. Mangin and Steffens, went to the rear of the house, while others of the squad knocked at the front door. Two men leaped from a rear window and started to run.

Schaffner dropped his gun after running a few steps and surrendered. Flannigan leaped a fence into the adjoining yard, followed by Capt. Kelliher. As the captain dropped to the ground he faced a revolver in Flannigan's hands.

"Follow me any further and I'll shoot," Flannigan said.

Capt. Kelliher had not yet drawn his gun. Ignoring Flannigan's threat, Capt. Kelliher drew his own revolver and Flannigan surrendered.

Flannigan and Schaffner were taken to Maywood, where they were looked at by the chief of police and by others who witnessed the robbery threat. It was stated positively that neither of the two men was among those participating in the Maywood robbery.

DIVORCED

Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt.

Word arriving in this country that Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt, daughter of the late Senator Elkins of West Virginia, was divorced last June in Paris, proved a big surprise to her friends on this side of the Atlantic. Her engagement to the Duke of the Abruzzi before her marriage to Mr. Hitt was a sensation in Europe and America.

HOOVER TO CUT GORDIAN KNOT OF RAIL DISPUTES

Starts Conferences of Men, Executives.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Conferences have been begun by Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce, as spokesmen for the administration, with representatives of the railway executives and the railway brotherhoods with a view of ironing out any difficulties which might later lead to a tieup of the transportation system of the country. It was learned on high authority at the White House today.

The first of these conferences, it was said in response to an inquiry, has been held, and others will follow. The first conference, it is understood, was held at the home of Secretary Hoover last Saturday night when the heads of the four main operating brotherhoods and several of the leading railway executives were guests of the secretary at dinner.

Those in Attendance.
The brotherhood leaders present, it is understood, were Warren S. Stone, head of the locomotive engineers; L. E. Shepperd, head of the conductors; W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen; and W. S. Carter, head of the firemen.

Among the railroad executives present were A. H. Smith, president of the New York Central; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio; W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania; and T. De Witt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of the Railway Executives.

There was no publicity in connection with the conference and efforts to get information at the department of commerce were unavailing.

Fear Loss of War Gains.
The railway brotherhood leaders are disturbed, it is understood, because of the tendency toward taking away from their constituents working conditions which they have enjoyed. Railroad employees other than the brotherhood employees have been deprived of the rule which saves them time and a half for overtime. They fear that rule will be taken from the train operative, it is said.

Secretary Hoover has evinced particular interest in the railroad labor situation, and it is regarded as certain that he has discussed the proposed conferences fully with the President.

TRADE REVIVAL IS SHOWN IN U. S. REPORT ON JOBS

Improvement Steady Since Last August.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Some rays of sunshine are visible in the employment situation, even to the indigo pessimists. Ten days ago, on Jan. 1, about 4.7 per cent fewer persons were employed in manufacturing industries than on Dec. 1, according to the monthly survey of the employment service of the United States department of labor, issued in full detail last night. It is largely ascribed to the customary closing down of many plants to take inventories; that and seasonal fluctuations.

The important point is that the December slump is apparently smaller than usual. The army of the unemployed, middle western, is growing larger, but down at the roots the basic industries are still registered the improvement that started along last August.

Less Work in Farm Regions.
Reports to the bureau from 231 principal centers show unemployment increasing in the agricultural regions, especially in the Pacific, Rocky mountain, middle western, and southern states, which is natural enough for this time of year. Agricultural and allied activities have contracted for the cold months, and the bureau reports that the small amount of outdoor public work under way, plus temporary casual work is "not enough to afford any great relief to the large number now unemployed."

But from the manufacturing centers, especially from those in the east and in New England, the reports are distinctly "encouraging and optimistic as to immediate improvement in business activity."

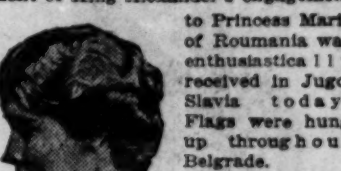

Of 65 cities, 29 reported employment increases during December, while 36 registered decreases, Chicago among them with a falling off of 2.7 per cent. The figures of the employment service are based upon telegraphed reports from 1,428 firms, normally employing 1,600,000 persons. On Jan. 1, these firms had 14,767 fewer employees on their pay rolls than on Dec. 1, a decrease of 4.7 per cent.

Shows Industry Picking Up.
The net decrease in these same establishments since Jan. 31, 1921, had been 135,027, or 8.3 per cent. This, it may be said, is vastly smaller than many estimates launched from time to time. On the basis that some 10,800,000 persons are employed in the manufacturing industries of the United States (latest census figures), it would indicate a drop of about 86,000 in employment in the last eleven months. This takes no account of unemployment in transportation, mining, agriculture, etc., but for manufacturing establishments it is far below most estimates to date.

What it points out is just this: that

JUGO-SLAVS HAIL KING'S ENGAGEMENT TO PRINCESS MARIE

BELGRADE, Jan. 10.—Announcement of King Alexander's engagement to Princess Marie of Roumania was enthusiastically received in Jugoslavia today.

Flags were hung up throughout Belgrade. The newspapers lay stress on the importance of tightening the bonds between the two central European countries "who never have been to war against each other."

They point out that the engagement strengthens the little entente and makes for Balkan peace. Princess Marie, second daughter of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, is 22 years of age.

King Alexander, who is the second son of the late King Peter of Serbia, is in his thirty-first year. He is visiting King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Roumania at their chateau at Sinaia.

At the roots industry is picking up. Textiles, iron, and steel, and their products, leather and its finished products, paper and printing, metals and metal products, lumber and its manufacture—all these fundamental branches of manufacturing on which a vast amount of allied occupations depend, registered an improvement in December over November, according to the survey.

These root callings, like steel and iron, have been constantly improving since August, as has been pointed out from time to time in these columns. The betterment has been slow and small but steady for the last four or five months—basically the medicine has started working. The survey itself points out: "The significant and encouraging feature of this report is the slight but continuous increase in the basic or nonseasonal industries."

As many view it, the business revival will treat a steady gain when once its legs get into real action and the industrial centers will be the first to benefit, but it will not be in danger of busting any speed laws until the next crop—the first "low cost" crop—is gathered and marketed.

State Farmers to Open
Annual Meeting Today

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 10.—The 1921 executive committee of the Illinois Agricultural association held its last meeting here today to clean up the remaining business of the last year in preparation for the state-wide annual meeting of the farmers' organization tomorrow and the next day, and the meeting of the new executive committee on the day following the close of the convention.

The leaders of the association arrived yesterday and today and predicted that continued good roads and establishments it is far below most estimates to date.

What it points out is just this: that

LEGISLATIVE ITCH PERILS LIBERTY, SENATOR SAYS

Press Muzzle Attacked by Publishers Also.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The bill to bar the use of the mails to newspapers publishing any information that might lead to gambling was denounced before the senate judiciary committee today as a dangerous and unwarranted invasion of the liberty of the press and the freedom of speech guaranteed by the constitution.

Senator Stanley (American Photo.) of Kentucky, Democrat, declared the measure to be "vicious and indefensible." Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican, joined in a general condemnation of all legislation seeking to set up centralized censorship of the press and placing the power to regulate publications in the hands of Washington bureaucrats.

Publishers Urge a Halt.
Organized newspaper publishers, represented by S. E. Thomson, business manager of the Chicago Tribune; Col. R. R. McCormick, one of the editors of the Chicago Tribune; W. F. Wiley, editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and E. H. Baker, publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, urged the committee to call a halt upon the steadily growing legislative encroachments on the liberty of the press.

The bill has already passed the house. Today's testimony closed the hearings before the judiciary subcommittee. The committee will now take the measure under advisement and later make its report to the whole committee. It is generally believed that the subcommittee will recommend either the outright rejection of the measure or drastic modification.

"This measure," said Senator Stanley, "is designed not to prevent racing but to limit freedom of speech. It would lay an arbitrary restriction not upon the race tracks but upon the press. To directly and arbitrarily limit freedom of speech in order to reach some possible wrongdoer is essentially vicious and indefensible. I cannot too strongly express my deep and grounded abhorrence of this method of indirectly usurping the legislative functions of the states."

"This bill will not prevent either racing or wagers, but it will restrict the freedom of the press. When you enact such a measure as this you do not merely break down one constitutional guarantee; you imperil or destroy them all."

"Unconstitutional, Impolitic."
"Are you attacking the bill on grounds of unconstitutionality or policy?" inquired Senator Borah.

"Both," replied Senator Stanley. "It is hardly necessary to speak of its unconstitutionality. I am more concerned about its folly and unwisdom. It is absolutely a violation of the spirit of the constitution, and I seriously doubt whether the law, even as applied in the lotteries cases, can be extended so far."

Publishers State Views.
Mr. Thomson told the committee that of the 550 members of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, representing 80 per cent of the larger newspapers of the country, only one had disagreed to the proposition to oppose the pending measure. He declared that approximately 90 per cent of them had already discontinued publication of the kind aimed at in the bill. He also stated that the measure would prove wholly ineffective because it would merely keep gambling information from mailed editions and would not prevent publication in editions distributed in the large cities.

Col. McCormick said the bill would not injure THE TRIBUNE because this Tribune had long ago discontinued the publication of the kind of information referred to in the measure. He opposed it fundamentally because he feared it would place new censorship in the hands of the federal government and add to the encroachments which are threatening to destroy the constitutional guarantee of the liberty of the press.

NEW YORK CITY EXPLAINS PLAN FOR HOME RULE

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Controller Charles L. Craig submitted today to the charter revision commission his "home rule" charter, providing for the largest measure of home rule for New York City possible under the present state constitution and which he declared was really a "constitution" for New York City.

The proposed charter, which contains only 7,000 words, instead of the more than 400,000 words in the present city charter, places power over all details of city government, now specified in the present charter and various legislative enactments, in a municipal assembly, composed of the board of estimate and the board of aldermen.

Public Utilities Control.
It authorizes the city to own, control, and operate its public utilities and to regulate those privately owned within the city, and would automatically, upon its adoption, supersede the transit commission, the public service commission, so far as its jurisdiction in the city is concerned, and all other state boards and commissions having exclusively city jurisdiction.

The proposed charter empowers the city to determine the number, salaries, methods of employment and removal, qualifications, powers, and duties of all persons rendering the city service, except elective officers, but including employees of county offices.

It gives the city control over all departments, including police, fire, and education, empowers the city to grant franchises for the use of the streets and other public places for periods not exceeding twenty-five years, and provides for the suppression of all conflicting laws.

Officials' Pay Boosted.
Provision is made for a new elective official, the corporation counsel, whose salary is fixed at $20,000 a year. The salaries of the mayor and controller are advanced to $25,000 a year each and the salaries of the aldermen from $3,000 to $5,000, the question of whether there shall be a reduction in the number of aldermen being left in abeyance, but the salaries of the president of the board of aldermen and the five borough presidents are continued at $10,000 each.

The proposed charter, even if approved by the charter revision commission, would have to go to the legislature for approval.

FLOOR LEADER

Ald. L. B. Anderson, who last night led a fight in council finance committee in behalf of political team owners that will cost taxpayers $150,000.

DISCOVERING an opportunity to save the taxpayers $200,000 last night, the council finance committee promptly voted to split this sum with the owners of the 1,000 city garbage and ash teams, who are mostly political laborers in the aldermanic vineyards.

Ald. Walter P. Steffen gave the committee figures showing how cost has been reduced from $60 to $30 a ton since the 1921 budget was made and that oats dropped from $1.25 to 50 cents a bushel. The figures showed the cost of keeping a team has dropped $1.11 a day.

Ald. Steffen, Armitage, and A. O. Anderson urged cutting pay of team owners from $10.50 to $9.50 a day, thus saving $1,000 a day, or $300,000 a year, for taxpayers.

Ald. Louis B. Anderson, Mayor Thompson's colored floor leader, and other aldermen, however, painted a dismal picture of team owners' profits at $10.50 a day. They advocated halving the saving, cutting owners to $10, instead of $9.50. This motion prevailed, so the team owners, and not the taxpayers, will get the $150,000 or half the possible saving on team hire.

proved by the charter revision commission, would have to go to the legislature for approval.

BUDGET MAKERS VOTE TO IGNORE LANDIS AWARD

Backing away from their decision to support the Landis award, municipal budget makers yesterday approved $1.10 an hour as the 1922 city wage scale for bricklayers, plumbers, carpenters, and all other crafts formerly paid $1.25 an hour.

The decision to rescind the vote by which the Landis scales were adopted came after three hours of talk, during which Ald. Armitage, an administration leader, who has carried a union card for thirty-three years, referred to Judge Landis as "The biggest four-flusher in Chicago."

Clark Opposes Committee.
Ald. Clark opened the debate by declaring himself against adding the city's support to the citizens' committee which is endeavoring to enforce the Landis award.

"The citizens' committee is trying to bring about an open shop," Ald. Armitage said. "I am not in favor of an open shop and I think the Landis award is unfair. Landis is the biggest four-flusher in Chicago."

"He is not a four-flusher," countered Ald. A. O. Anderson. "He simply had sufficient backbone to make a fair wage scale and stand by it." "Landis has been Hawkshawing so long he thinks he is the whole clan," Armitage replied, launching into a criticism of the judge's award.

Ald. Clark contended that "many contractors" are paying more than the Landis scales and that the city, which operates under an ordinance providing that the prevailing union scale shall be adopted as the city's scale, cannot legally support the Landis award.

Assails Lodging House Plan.
Ald. Armitage got rid of another mouthful of criticism when the plan of Mayor Thompson's unemployment commission for $18,000 to open free lodging houses was under consideration. The request was made by Ald. Maurice Kavanagh and Dr. Ben Reisman of the city health department.

"Doc Reisman is not a fair representative of any body except the I. W. W. and Emma Goldman," Armitage declared. "I don't see what right he has to come before us with the backing of the health department." Chairman Richard informed the committee that the Veterans of Foreign Wars have offered to take over the lodging house at 160 South Union street and operate it for ex-servicemen without cost to the city. Action on the lodging house question was deferred.

Home Made Cocaine Seized by Agents of Government

With the arrest of Herman Root, a farmer living in Lisle, Ill., and the confiscation of 140 grains of "home brew cocaine," federal officials believe they have the key to a widespread conspiracy for the sale of narcotics to farmers. The drug captured is of an inferior grade and is believed to have been made in Canada.

Henrici's

Take, for instance, the matter of prices. It would be as erroneous to say Henrici's prices are cheap as to say they are excessive.

The truth is that Henrici's is not conducted down to a price but up to a standard.

It is thought that the system in effect in this restaurant is as efficient as has been devised and that, quality for quality, quantity for quantity, and price for price, the average price in Henrici's is as moderate as the average in any restaurant in the city.

No Car Is Quite Itself without a Concrete Road

What makes a "crack" train? The roadbed as much as the rolling stock.

So with your automobile. Any car is a better car on a good road.

The car with the highest gas mileage has a higher mileage on Concrete.

The car with the quickest "pick-up" picks up quicker on firm, unyielding Concrete.

The best non-skid tire holds better on the gritty Concrete surface.

The car with the lowest depreciation has a lower depreciation on Concrete.

Motorists know these are facts—and motorists, if they insist, can get the kind of roads they want.

Our Booklet R-3 tells other interesting things about Concrete roads. Write for your copy.

MAJ. OPIE SHOT OWN MEN, YANKS TELL SENATORS

Soldiers Describe Slaying of Comrades.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—Nearly a dozen witnesses, all from Virginia, broke about even in numbers today in testifying for and against Maj. Hiram L. Opie of Staunton, Va., before a senate committee investigating charges that American soldiers had been hanged without trial in France.

But at the all day session there was no evidence relating specifically to hangings. It all swung around charges that Maj. Opie, as commander of the 3d battalion, 116th infantry, had shot some of his own men. Men who had served with the regiment, supplementing testimony submitted last week, declared they saw Maj. Opie shoot runners in October, 1918, while his command was in the Argonne offensive.

Only Shot to Stop Retreat.

Others who were with the officer on the dates mentioned asserted that he had shot no one, and that he only tried to stop some of his men, apparently in disorderly retreat, in an effort to reform his line and get troops back into fighting state.

Chairman Brandegee, seeking to get through the conflicting evidence, endeavored to ascertain the exact number alleged to have been shot, but in the end there was some doubt in the minds of members as to whether the witnesses had seen and were attempting to describe the same alleged slaughter.

Watson Wants Johnson Called.

Senator Watson asked that Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota, who had stated in the house it probably was true that soldiers at the front had been shot by their officers because they had become demoralized or showed cowardice, be summoned.

Charles E. Fox of Richmond, Va., testified that he saw Maj. Opie of Staunton, Va., shoot a soldier in the back north of Verdun in 1918.

"The man shot was wearing the American uniform," said Fox. "I was 150 feet away. As he was shot he threw his hands in the air and toppled over. I do not know if the man died. Sgt. Kane also saw the shooting."

Fox declared the soldier was within six feet of the major when the shooting took place, that he had approached the officer and was moving off.

"Do you know Opie?" Chairman Brandegee asked.

"I was positive it was Maj. Opie. There was much talk in the company, company B, 116th infantry. The men wondered why the boy had been shot, but they were afraid to ask about it."

Stonewall Jackson Albin of Kerns town, Va., declared he saw Maj. Opie shoot an American soldier in cold blood.

"The runner who was shot was running toward the major," said Albin. "I saw him hand the major a piece of paper which Maj. Opie glanced at. Then the runner turned his back and started to walk away, when Maj. Opie shot him."

Not One Departs.

The motley throng squeezed tighter to give space on the benches for a few more. None departed. All looked toward the bench, toward which stony faced women and shamefaced men were being led to be heard.

Gaudily dressed women, black and white, vehemently acclaimed their innocence before Judge Arnold Heap, declaring the testimony of policemen to be false. Detectives gave intimate details of raids upon suspected disorderly houses, of how the women were dressed, of what they said. A former soldier, locked up in a side room, yelled: "It ain't fair! I was eighteen months overseas! I—!" Great stuff for the motley throng.

The show was at its height when a photographer appeared, camera mounted on tripod. Beneath his black cloth he focused it on the men. They regarded him curiously. Something new, they opined, and directed their attention again on the drama at the bar. The flashlight boomed.

Drives Out a Few.

"This picture will appear tomorrow in The Chicago Tribune," said City Prosecutor Louis Piquet, coming forward. "It is to show the public just what sort of men spend their time in this court. The custom will be kept up until this court is rid of undesirable sightseers. Now, everybody with no business here please get out."

A dozen disappeared through the door. But their places were taken by others in the long line in the hall, who hadn't heard Mr. Piquet. The gallery remained until the court adjourned.

"Out of that crowd in the picture," said Judge Heap, in his chambers, after the court adjourned, "not more than 3 per cent had any business there. The rest were here out of depraved curiosity in the sordid proceedings, or in the interests of commercialized vice."

Girls Pursued in Court.

The judge related stories of how, when the girls were led from the detention room men slipped notes into their hands, or spoke to them in whispers. When the girls left the court, with cases continued or dismissed, men followed them to the elevators, to make "dates."

Schoolboys are scared away by threats of informing their parents. Ministers and medical students, giving their professions as the reason for their presence, are among the daily audience, the judge said. Men with cases in other courts come to "listen in" until their cases are called.

"The difficulty is," Judge Heap continued, "we have no legal right to forbid citizens admittance to the court. It is their right. But we discourage them as much as we can. For certainly, nobody gets any good out of visiting this court, and he sometimes gets much harm. We are taking every means we can to keep the horde of vagabonds, loafers, and idlers out of the morals court."

DIES OF INJURIES.

John Zurek, a laborer, died at the Alexian Brothers' hospital yesterday of injuries suffered when he was struck by a street car.

"LISTENERS IN" AT MORALS COURT

Some of the spectators whom Judge Arnold Heap seeks to discourage visiting his tribunal by having their pictures published.

NEWS PHOTOS TO CLEANSE MORALS COURT OF MORBID

"Depraved Curious" to Be Driven Out.

Yesterday's session at the morals court, on the eleventh floor of the city hall, played to standing room only, as usual.

When the curtain rose on the day's sordid doings the benches on the right side of the room were filled with women arrested the night before. Attorneys, court employees, bondsmen, with legitimate business there, bustled about. But a motley throng of men crowded in the rear of seats on the left, eager for the show to start.

The gavel descended. The court was declared in session.

"Everybody with no business here will kindly leave the room," called a bailiff. "Those who have will find seats."

VOPICKA WANTS U. S. TO TAKE BONDS ON CLAIM

Stimulation of trade between the United States and Europe can and should be effected through a bond issue that will postpone payment of this country's war claims, Charles J. Vopicka, former minister to the Balkan states, told members of the Chicago World Trade club last night.

"I would suggest," said Mr. Vopicka, "that our government change our claims into a bond issue for fifty or one hundred years, bearing 2 1/2 per cent interest, of which one-half of 1 per cent would be used for amortization."

Japs and Chinese Meet Today.

The Shantung deliberations between the Chinese and Japanese delegations will be resumed tomorrow. Japan took the initiative today in asking the Chinese to resume conference on issues other than the railroad question, the obstacle upon which negotiations broke last week.

Informal pressure from Secretary Hughes and Mr. Balfour is said to have brought about a resumption of the negotiations and by the time other Shantung issues are settled, such as vested interests, mining properties, and salt concessions, it is believed that mutual concessions will permit an agreement on terms of restoration of the Shantung railroad to China.

It was authoritatively stated tonight that the action of the conference with respect to submarine regulations, poison gas, and recommendations for a conference on aircraft rules will not be incorporated in the naval treaty. These subjects will be included in a separate agreement, but

SEVERAL WEEKS NEEDED TO WIND UP CONFERENCE

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Gen. Wu Pei Fu, one of the three super-toughs of China, has sent a telegram to Chinese diplomats, student and merchant bodies throughout the world calling Liang Shih-Yi, the new Chinese premier, a traitor, and calling "on every patriotic citizen to strike down the traitor and save the nation."

Chinese here believe it means civil war in China between Wu Pei Fu and Chang Tso-Lin, two of the three super-toughs.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Contrary to some expectations, the Washington arms conference will not terminate this week and probably will continue until the end of January. Insistence by the American delegation upon a nine power treaty relating to China and renewal of effort by Japan and China to agree on Shantung deliberations.

Yielding to the American demand for a thorough summing up of all matters relating to the Chinese question, the chairman of delegations who had engaged passage for home next week canceled their reservations today. Mr. Balfour of Britain was to have sailed Jan. 14. He now plans to leave Jan. 24, but may remain even later. M. Sarraut of France also has canceled reservations, and Baron Kato, who wanted to leave next week, will remain until discussion of the agenda has been concluded.

Japs and Chinese Meet Today.

The Shantung deliberations between the Chinese and Japanese delegations will be resumed tomorrow. Japan took the initiative today in asking the Chinese to resume conference on issues other than the railroad question, the obstacle upon which negotiations broke last week.

Informal pressure from Secretary Hughes and Mr. Balfour is said to have brought about a resumption of the negotiations and by the time other Shantung issues are settled, such as vested interests, mining properties, and salt concessions, it is believed that mutual concessions will permit an agreement on terms of restoration of the Shantung railroad to China.

Separate Treaty for "Subs."

It was authoritatively stated tonight that the action of the conference with respect to submarine regulations, poison gas, and recommendations for a conference on aircraft rules will not be incorporated in the naval treaty. These subjects will be included in a separate agreement, but President Harding regards the Shantung issue as one of the most important of the conference, and its settlement greatly to be desired before the adjournment. He was very hopeful, too, that an agreement would be reached without any necessity for executive mediation. Rumors that the President had been asked to mediate were authoritatively denied.

it was stated, the agreement on the status quo as to Pacific fortifications probably will be included in the naval treaty.

President Harding let it be known today that he will submit all of the treaties coming from the conference to the senate at one time after the conference has adjourned.

M'CORMICK AND HENRY CHANNON SAIL NEXT WEEK

When Allister McCormick sails for England on the Baltic next Thursday he will be accompanied not by Mary Landon Baker, who was to have married him Jan. 2, but by Henry Channon, who was to have been one of the ushers at the wedding.

"Mr. McCormick and I are old friends. We anticipate a very pleasant journey," said Mr. Channon last night at the home of his parents, 1434 Astor street. "I am going to Oxford, where I shall resume my studies. I don't know just what courses I shall specialize in."

"Mr. McCormick is not going with me to Oxford. He will visit his brother in London. In the spring Miss Baker will come over to be married to him."

Building Up to An Ideal

"The Play's the thing," wrote Shakespeare. Of course it is, but the play's enjoyment depends largely on the appointments which surround the patron.

Bodily comfort, a sense of personal safety, an environment restful to the eye and mind—all are essential to the full enjoyment of "the play."

When Balaban & Katz conceived the idea of establishing the Central Park, Riviera, Tivoli and Chicago Theatres, they called in the master minds of the architectural, decorative, engineering, musical and amusement fields — men who had made big successes in Chicago and other cities.

These acknowledged leaders, these men who possessed enviable records for accomplishment, were given a complete insight into Balaban & Katz ideals. They were told to proceed in the preparation of plans, the fulfillment of which now gives you entertainment far surpassing anything ever before attempted. It took nearly six years to bring this about.

Balaban & Katz, acknowledging the whole-hearted approval given their ideas by you and your friends, are devoting their time, their energies and their money to give you supreme entertainment in comfort and in safety. Balaban & Katz theatres really belong to you. Your preference for wholesome entertainment presented in the most attractive manner makes them possible.

"MURDER TRYST" CRUX OF CASE AGAINST BURCH

State Links Arthur and Madelynn in Plot.

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—How did Arthur Burch know that J. Belmont Kennedy was to be at his cabin in Beverly Glen at 9 o'clock on the night of Aug. 5? This is the crux of the case against Burch, according to Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes, making his closing statement to the jury in Judge Reilly's court today.

"How could he know it, except through Madelynn Obenchain?" he asked. "There can be only that one answer. Madelynn agreed to have Kennedy there at that hour, and Burch was there waiting, and Kennedy came at the time appointed and was killed."

"What difference does it make," he continued, "in the guilt or innocence of the defendant whether Kennedy was killed at 9 o'clock or 9:05 or 9:40? What difference whether he was going up stairs or down? We know the killer waited, standing or kneeling in the brush, ready, patient, certain."

May Not Go to Jury This Week.

Keyes held the close attention of the ten women and two men on the jury. His delivery was dramatic and Burch forgot his usual smiles as he listened. His face bore a brooding look, a worried expression. He had lost much of his coolness.

Keyes was to have concluded this afternoon, but there was no session. Judge Reilly's brother is ill at Pullman, Cal., not expected to live, and the trial postponed the trial until tomorrow morning and hurried to his brother.

Keyes may finish by tomorrow noon. Then J. J. Sullivan and Paul W. Schenck will speak for Burch. District Attorney Woolwine will close for the state. It is possible the case will not go to the jury until next week.

Keyes devoted much time to the plan of the defense. "They did not produce one positive witness," he said. "Not one witness who could tell where Burch was when the murder was committed. No one who could prove him innocent. Their only witnesses were used in an attempt to tear down what the prosecution had built up."

"They attacked Mrs. Elizabeth Bentley and Charles Seymour with all their strength, but strike out the testimony of these two witnesses and you will still have the strongest circumstantial evidence case against Arthur Burch that I have ever seen."

Asks Reason for Flight.

He went into the details of Burch's stay at the hotel, opposite Kennedy's office; into the visit of Madelynn; into Burch's leaving the hotel the night of the murder, carrying what "looked like a shotgun wrapped in papers"; into Burch's hurried flight.

"Why did he take the first train for Chicago he could get after the murder?" Keyes demanded. "Why didn't he stay and help the woman who called him across the continent to do her bidding? It is quite plain. If he had gotten away the evidence against Madelynn Obenchain might not have been so conclusive. The murder might have remained a mystery."

CAN A MAIDEN BE ENGAGED TO A MARRIED MAN?

Montreal, Que., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The mutual attraction of the pretty stenographer and the wealthy, but married financier, forms the theme in another love drama in the process of unfolding in the courts of Montreal.

It is the story of the heart flutterings of Shirley Ogilvie, vice president of Abbott Power and Paper company, scion of one of Montreal's oldest and proudest families, and winsome Sadie Martin, who not long ago was stenographer in the stock brokerage house of Craig, Lutter & Irvine.

Some months ago financial circles were agreeably stimulated by the first hints of a scandal. It was whispered that Shirley Ogilvie had gone to Europe, and that he had taken with him a beautiful stenographer with whom he had fallen in love. What was to become of Mrs. Ogilvie and family did not transpire at the time and rumor bustled itself with attributing the flight to the supposition that Ogilvie had lost heavily on Abitibi stock, in which he was interested, and could not afford the extravagance of his wife.

Sought Divorce in France.

It now develops as a consequence of actions in the courts that Ogilvie went overseas, accompanied by Miss Martin, in the hope of obtaining a divorce in France, and was actually introduced in Paris by Lord Beaverbrook to a celebrated specialist on international divorce law, who already had secured several divorces for Americans and arranged the French divorce between Col. Hamilton Gault and Mrs. Gault of Montreal.

Technical difficulties caused delay and Ogilvie returned to Montreal to see whether his wife would facilitate matters by coming to Paris or would as an alternative take action against him in Canada.

Miss Martin returned a few days ahead of Mr. Ogilvie but did not see him on his return. To her amazement a few days later she was served with papers on behalf of Mr. Ogilvie demanding return of $48,000 value of gifts made to her.

Is She a Flancon?

At the same time Miss Martin heard that Ogilvie was maligning her, and through her lawyers, Lavery and Demers, who also handled Fred Beauvais' interests in the Stillman case, she entered suit for $100,000 damages for alleged defamation of character.

The proceedings are being held in camera, but the preliminary argument in open court disclosed the lines of the case which revolve around the question of whether Miss Martin was entitled to regard herself as his fiancée.

Mr. Ogilvie's lawyers take a different view and it is on account of expressions used by Ogilvie in disclaiming this contention that the action has been taken by Miss Martin.

The evidence, it is said, will bring out some interesting episodes, the scenes of which were laid in New York, London, Paris and Montreal.

Kellogg's Bran is nature's own relief from constipation!

You must not take chances with constipation when statistics tell you that nine-tenths of all sickness can be traced to it! You must get permanent relief; you must drive constipation out of your system!

Realize that pills and cathartics, at best, can only afford temporary relief, while they are irritating to the delicate intestinal tract.

Now—compare the action of these pills and cathartics with the natural and wholesome effect of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Science knows of no such wonderful sweeper, cleanser and purifier of the bowels as Kellogg's Bran, yet it is simply nature's food. Bran's effect is certain and relief permanent if at least two tablespoonfuls are eaten daily. Chronic cases should eat as much more as is necessary for relief.

Eat Kellogg's Bran either as a delicious and nutritious cereal, or sprinkle it over your favorite cereal. Eat it in many other foods which are made more appetizing by its nut-like flavor! Kellogg's Bran pancakes are the best you ever tasted! Use it in raisin bread or muffins, gravies, macaroons, pancakes, etc. (Recipes on package.)

The big thing is to get Kellogg's Bran into your system quickly! Get it at your grocer's.

P. S.—Pimples are caused by constipation. Kellogg's Bran will clear them up and also free your breath from intestinal odors.

Who we are What we do

And our View-point of Advertising in conjunction with sales

We serve as Advertising Agency and Commercial Councillors, and place advertising on the regular agency basis for concerns who want the A-B-C's established in their business with small expenditure to start. We also serve the largest concerns in working out the X-Y-Z's of selling and advertising and apply strategy step by step to whatever situation we find existing.

We have much to offer in experience as well as the active mentality to serve well, and in this connection we will state, as indication of responsibility and successful achievement in business, that both principals of this company were each paid for their services as employees, in their recent manufacturing connections, a salary of $25,000 a year.

We know the mechanics of advertising and have the ability and organization capable of rendering a complete service to your advertising and sales departments.

Our View-point

ADVERTISING that is not planned as the foundation for years to come is not business economy but immediate selling expense, and such advertising carries no appreciable momentum nor does it give any strategic advantage to a sales department.

We specialize on advertising in relation to a sales plan which can be used in selling as a national or territorial influence. We work on the policy of preparing the entire campaign plans, institutional aims, advertising—everything in advance to fit the need of the business at a given period.

The plans must be constructive in the direction of the next move when achievement of the first step is established.

The copy in advertisements must fit a definite purpose and be judged chiefly for the sales strength rather than for literary effort which we intentionally avoid.

We insist on that character of art-work and typography which emphasizes the merit of the product and justifies an expenditure in advertising.

We operate on the principle of concentration in appropriation—select a central avenue of publicity and do that one thing right before making any additions in supplementary publicity methods.

We put the sales and advertising plans in portfolio form, drill the salesmen in the field as to its supporting strength to them, and have them sell the turnover influence such plans create. The efforts expressed by the portfolio become a tangible something a dealer or jobber quickly appraises, and over a period of years the progressive advertising program adds a definite extra and increasing value to the same product.

The strategy in sales guidance supported by advertising will lift a concern from the ranks to enviable position, wherein the mere quality of product alone is not sufficient to volume achievement; neither is mere advertising alone sufficient.

Strategy in obtaining turnover is called merchandising. National advertising has been made a part of strategy in obtaining sales and greater turnover because it has such a strong influence with the consumer in creating confidence as to intrinsic merit. It accordingly stabilizes distribution for the manufacturer when properly applied in the sales program.

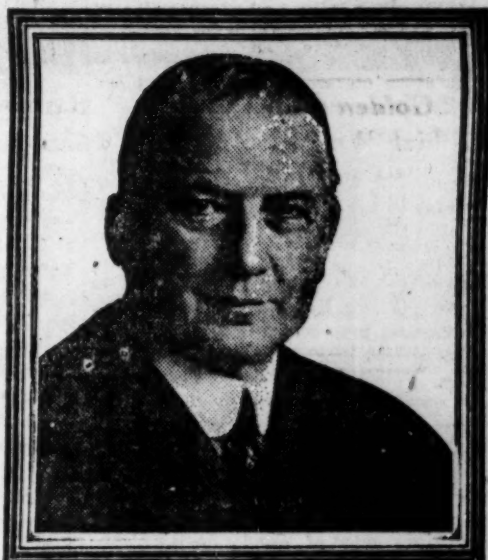

To know how to put advertising into sales plans for better turnover is what makes one individual or organization more successful than another. It takes a co-ordinated plan, proper directing, and initial patience for the advertising to become a strategic influence and forceful background around which sales policies can be formed and can function with greater results. Anywhere from 3% to 5% of sales is the usual basis for an advertising appropriation.

Of course, it is possible to use advertising to advantage in getting initial distribution in small orders almost overnight, with salesmen's efforts, but volume only comes when advertising has had time to change habits or bring decided preference on the part of the public. Persistent and consistent effort in advertising well planned and used has proved its reward and place as economy in business.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1—Build the Subway Now.

NO FIVE CENT FARE.

The federal court has decided that the city has made no showing that a 5 cent fare in Chicago is not confiscatory. The Illinois commerce commission made a 5 cent ruling for service which the federal judges found cost 6 cents at least.

The city administration, which has been promising the car users a 5 cent fare, is not chagrined by the decision of the court but is pleased. There will not be any statement of the city hall gratification made, but it is a lively gratitude.

It is not desired by the city administration that there should be any improvement in Chicago traction, either in service or rate of fare. It is desired that the service should remain inadequate and the fare high. That preserves an issue by not presenting a settlement.

The proceedings before the Illinois commerce commission were undertaken when the city's failure to act for reduced fares was becoming embarrassing because notorious. The proceedings were so conducted and the ruling of the commission was such that an appeal to the courts for the protection of property was forced. It was intended that the commission should make a gesture and that it should come to nothing else.

Mr. Thompson now will demand his $50,000,000 traction district scheme as the only means of relieving the car users. If he has any luck he will continue ringing the changes on the talk which thus far has come to nothing and which is intended to come to nothing.

The court, examining the commission's ruling, found as a reason given for a 5 cent fare a statement that thirty-three principal articles of food had decreased 18.22 per cent between Aug. 15, 1920, and Aug. 15, 1921, and that eleven principal articles of dry goods had decreased 42.89 per cent.

"The great difficulty in this argument," said the court decision, "is that you cannot run street cars on food and dry goods."

You can as you convert food and dry goods into labor, but the dishonesty of the city argument lay in ignoring the question of wages. The city lawyers and the state commission threw that statement of decreased cost of living into the air as if it automatically affected the cost of operation of street cars without being reduced to terms of wages. The court could not find that a decrease in food and dry goods did anything to a street car company's pay roll until it was applied there.

Nothing could better illustrate the mental dishonesty of the administration tactics. Neither the city lawyers nor the members of the commission had the courage to say that wages were sticking at the top while the reason for top wages was being eliminated.

The object of the city hall is to do nothing to improve service or give the car user his money's worth. That object is to be accomplished and the people are to be told that sinister influences prevent fair play.

STATE CONSTABULARY.

Victor Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, writes THE TRIBUNE to explain again why labor opposes a constabulary for the patrol and protection of country districts. Mr. Olander fears a military oligarchy. J. Mack Glenn of the Manufacturers' association won't have the constabulary unless he can get his Cossacks and Olander will not have the constabulary because this small force would have captains and lieutenants.

Mr. Olander is as unreasonable as Mr. Glenn. They have that in common. The labor leader might accept a bill which provided that each state constable should be a resident of the township in which he was authorized to act, that he should be a grandparent and have at least six grandchildren, that he should be crippled by rheumatism and unable to ride a motorcycle, and that he never should be disturbed by an alarm if he had anything else to do.

INVITING LENIN.

There may be a certain lack of restraint, and perhaps of dignity, in accepting an invitation before it arrives, but in the case of the Lenin government we cannot but sympathize. Perhaps the soviet delegation has packed its celluloid collar and is already on the way. Anything remotely representing recognition, we suppose, must be acceptable to the Red regime, which has been executing of late so many "strategic retreats," as Lenin calls them.

Prof. Milukoff, now in America, and Mr. Avksentiev, representatives of anti-bolshevik groups, have this question of prestige in mind doubtless when they object to an invitation for Lenin to the conference. They declare it is "nothing but an agreement with the tyrannical ruler Russia, for the benefit of foreign investors at the expense of the Russian people." Undoubtedly there is a good deal of force in this charge. The European governments are not altruistic in their attitude toward Russia. Their own countries are in a pretty bad way and they are anxious to get them back on a safer footing as soon as possible. So long as the Russian people submit to the Lenin dictatorship, western Europe must either deal with that power or fight it or ignore the Russian factor in restoration. They have tried fighting. They have tried ignoring. The results have not been happy. Fighting strengthened Lenin. Ignoring him has not yet brought about his downfall. Meanwhile western Europe has gone from bad to worse.

The Russian empires say, "Wait a little longer. Lenin is losing. Famine and industrial paralysis are bringing him down." But at Cannes they are facing problems that will not be waited for. The cold breath of imminent ruin is on the neck of the European statesman. He remembers that the moderates have been prophesying that Lenin would never fall ever since he rose. He observes that Lenin is still in possession of the actual elements of rule, the army, the police. He notes also that Lenin has been showing not the fatal rigidity of the fanatic, however fanatic he may be in theory, but the opportunism of practical politics. Lenin has taught respect for his formidable powers of rule, if not for his ideas, and now that he has made concessions to private enterprise within Russia and seems in a mood for compromise in foreign relations, we can understand that the western European powers, themselves on the brink of economic and financial catastrophe, are disposed to negotiate with Lenin, as the power de facto, rather than gamble further upon his elimination.

Of course, dealing with the bolshevik regime is neither pleasant nor without hazard. But western governments are in no situation to pick and choose. If Lenin will give assurances and such guarantees as may be practicable that the obligations of contract and the right of private property will be respected, and perhaps also mischievous propaganda checked, it is evident that relations with Russia will be reestablished.

THE MUNICIPAL LODGING HOUSE.

The plans sponsored by Ald. Mulcahy before the city council to open a municipal lodging house and devote $18,000 of the city's funds to maintaining this institution and examining, classifying, and disposing of the men who would frequent it, are, we believe, worthy of general support and approval.

The opening of such an institution has been opposed by Chief of Police Fitzmorris on the ground that it would attract jobless men and criminals to Chicago in the belief that they would find a comfortable home without work. On its face that seems a plausible argument.

Examination of the facts weakens it. There are now several thousand jobless men in Chicago sleeping every night in doorways, alleys, basements, or wherever they can find shelter of any kind. They are scattered from one end of the city to the other. They are homeless, hungry, and desperate. A man in that condition is likely to commit crime to relieve his distress.

If these men could be gathered into one or more central places each night, where they would be under the eye of the police, it is probable that their opportunity for crime, if not their inclination, would be lessened. In addition, as Dr. Ben Reisman suggests, the half wits, the infirm, the morose among them, could be sorted out and provided for to the greater safety of the community. Strangers and criminals coming to Chicago to take advantage of the charity would be forced to pass under the eyes of the police, and could be much more easily ferreted out, and sent home or to jail, than they could if allowed to roam the city at will each night.

Altogether it seems a wise procedure, with advantages to public safety as well as to the homeless men, very cheap at $18,000 for the winter.

TO RAISE THE LICENSE FEES FOR CRIME.

County Commissioner Whealan's announcement that the county governmental machinery will be enlisted in support of State's Attorney Crowe's plan to collect $6,000,000 due on bail bond forfeitures will give hitherto "licensed" criminals pause, and may even inspire some hope in the downtrodden taxpayer.

For years preceding State's Attorney Crowe's reformation of the criminal bail bond system in Cook county professional criminals and professional bondsmen had cooperated successfully in what amounted to a system of licensing crime. It was the practice of the criminals when arrested to buy a bail bond, generally from a professional bondsman, obtain liberty on this scrap of paper, and disappear. When the case was called for trial the criminal would be missing and the bond would be declared forfeited. But it was rarely, if ever, collected. The same property, perhaps technically transferred to other hands, would be scheduled again for another criminal, with the same result, and so on indefinitely. The criminal, for payment of the bondsmen's fees, thus operated with a minimum fear of ever being brought to trial.

Under this system judgments totaling $6,000,000 against bondsmen and in favor of the county have accumulated. Even under the more strict supervision of 1921 only $200 actually reached the county treasurer out of judgments totaling $640,700.

Probably a large part of these judgments can never be collected because of technicalities and legal subterfuges, but if half or even a sixth could be collected it would pay the county to spend considerable money for legal action to do so. What is more important, such collection would have a most chastening effect upon crooked bondsmen, and through them upon the criminals. County foreclosures on the scheduled property probably would put many of the bondsmen out of business. The likelihood of such foreclosure would raise their rates to prohibitive heights. It would tend to discourage crime and incidentally return to the taxpayers some of the money which criminals and grifters, unofficial and official, have extorted from them.

Editorial of the Day

BLOCS AND PARTIES.

[Springfield (Mass.) Republican.]

A New York member of congress wants "blocs" prohibited by law. The gentleman might as well demand the prohibition of the Republican and Democratic parties. A party is a bloc as much as a bloc is a bloc, in the constitutional sense. The constitution does not recognize political parties. They were inherited from England like the common law and high sheriffs. President George Washington hoped to govern without parties, and consequently Hamilton and Jefferson quarreled on the inside of his cabinet instead of on the outside. The first party in America under the constitution was a bloc, and so was the second party. New parties have always started as blocs, drawing their strength from all possible sources. Antislavery Whigs and Democrats back in the '40s and '50s got together on the slavery issue, and by 1855 they had become a regular party with the name Republican.

No bloc can be killed by talk or making faces. There is no stopping one unless its job is taken from it by the old parties. The basis of parties is their usefulness in government; the test of a bloc is the unique work it does for enough people to make it worth while. If there is a large group of people who cannot get results to suit them through one of the regular parties, a bloc will arise to meet the need. Political science in that case points to this development. Either one of the regular parties will take over the mission of the bloc and swallow it whole or the bloc will eventually swallow one of the regular parties if the issue it stands for is sufficiently commanding and permanent.

The present farm bloc in congress is a true bloc because it draws strength from both the old parties and came into existence to satisfy the pressing demands of a large economic group.

Prof. Milukoff, now in America, and Mr. Avksentiev, representatives of anti-bolshevik groups, have this question of prestige in mind doubtless when they object to an invitation for Lenin to the conference. They declare it is "nothing but an agreement with the tyrannical ruler Russia, for the benefit of foreign investors at the expense of the Russian people." Undoubtedly there is a good deal of force in this charge. The European governments are not altruistic in their attitude toward Russia. Their own countries are in a pretty bad way and they are anxious to get them back on a safer footing as soon as possible. So long as the Russian people submit to the Lenin dictatorship, western Europe must either deal with that power or fight it or ignore the Russian factor in restoration. They have tried fighting. They have tried ignoring. The results have not been happy. Fighting strengthened Lenin. Ignoring him has not yet brought about his downfall. Meanwhile western Europe has gone from bad to worse.

The Russian empires say, "Wait a little longer. Lenin is losing. Famine and industrial paralysis are bringing him down." But at Cannes they are facing problems that will not be waited for. The cold breath of imminent ruin is on the neck of the European statesman. He remembers that the moderates have been prophesying that Lenin would never fall ever since he rose. He observes that

A HOMESICK NEW YORKER TO HIS CHICAGO GIRL.

(Apologies to Mr. Thackeray's "Lucy.")

Dear Lucy, you know what my taste is—
I adore all that money can buy;
The life of the poor simple hermit
Was never intended for I.

Let us breakfast then, love, at the Biltmore,
Swirl tea at the Ritz about five,
Then roll our Rolls Royce to the Claridge
And pick up a gang that's alive.

And when we have fled from Chicago,
The city of smells and of smoke,
We'll crashily plunge into Broadway
And gladly and sweetly go broke.

LETTY DALE.

WE'LL KNIGHT YOU, GEORGE WOULD PROBABLY CROWN YOU.

Dear R. H. L.: I know now who is hiding behind the name of Right Honorable Legion. That little fable in last Sunday's Line betrayed you. It took me right back to "Fables in Slang," and a great light broke upon me. I knew you when you came down to that little Indiana village to rusticate. Of course you didn't notice me, for I was just a little barefooted kid running wild over the hills and chasing crawfish and minnows in the branch or water-spider in the icy springs. But, just think! My little brother carried over the evening papers and the two quarts of rich Jersey milk to the great house where you were domiciled. Thus near, but no nearer, did I come to your royal presence. But I have kept track of you and read everything you wrote, and so I am able to discover you, no matter what initials you may hide behind. Knight me! Oh, my King George the First!

R. H. L.: The following was printed in the papers at the time of the crime, being inspired by the death of Alexander Hamilton, the greatest American birthday anniversary is Jan. 11. This little verse will be appropriate in Wednesday's Line o' Type:

"Oh, Aaron Burr, what have you done?
You've gone and killed great Hamilton.
You hid behind a great, tall thistle,
And killed him with a big boss pistol."

And thereby we hope, in the name of Alexander Hamilton, the Greatest American, to be enrolled a Contributor in the Legion o' the Line.

DOWN ON A NEW YORK FARM.

"The corn would be ripe 'back home' by now. They would be cutting and shocking and feeding the silos."—Story in Smart Set, New York, January, p. 113.

Bye baby, bye lo,
The Ford is eating silo,
For your breakfast do not beg
The mules have laid another egg.

Go to sleep and rest your head,
Your uncle's out a mowing shed;
The hired man will wind the plow
While brother saddles up the cow.

Bye lo, baby bye,
The pigs are roosting on their sty,
The hens are all in bloom again,
The pumpkins moaning in their pen.

Sleep and rest your little bib,
While mother cooks your pretty crib;
Bread for baby soon will grow,
Daddy's out a planting dough.

Oh, Mary! Mary Thine, There's a Fan Chasing You.
R. H. L.: Look what I found in Mae Thine's answers to correspondents: "S. L.: Henry Walshall was in 'The Bird of a Nation' Nottabittububbel." Certainly it was nottabittububbel. If he had taken a hint from the author he would have found out that Henry Walshall was not in "The Bird of a Nation," but he was in "Way Down West" and the "Three Rusty Tears." Don't mention it. Nottabittububbel.

"Shine, Little Glow Worm."
R. H. L.: The other day I took some time and wrote a wheeze to make the Line. I didn't make it, and don't ask why; but it gets my goat when another guy sends in a squib that was just like mine and grabs the place where I meant to shine.

B. M. Sullivan, Ill.
George is still a Knight of the Legion o' the Line. We just got him his Silo and his Plow.

R. H. L.: I feel you acted too hastily in reducing George Norton of Nappanee to the ranks on the charges preferred by Sandy. These fellows, who were majors in the A. E. F., are easily peevish. George is a splendid shot and can you imagine what he will do when he discovers he was only "A Knight for a Day"?

But We Give the Watch and Chain of Gold to Him Who Refrains the Longest.
I think I qualify for a bright red ribbon in my buttonhole, chevalier in the Legion o' the Line, because years and years and years ago B. L. T. offered a solid gold watch and chain to the one who refrained the longest from sending in a contribution to the Line. I have refrained up to this moment.

MALADY OF MIDDLE AGE.
J. H. writes: "Please write something in regard to glaucoma. I have been troubled with it for two years. What causes it and is there any help for it? I am 71 years old. Have led an active life until now."

REPLY.
The name "glaucoma" comes from a greenish tint which the pupils take on when the condition has reached an advanced stage. Physicians use it to designate all those conditions in which there is too much fluid in the eyeball.

Since the outer layers of that structure are dense and inelastic, if there is a considerable increase in the fluid within it the ball feels hard.

Normally a certain amount of fluid is secreted by certain structures inside the globe. The rate of secretion is just equal to the rate of drainage outward at the back of the eye. In consequence the humors of the eye are kept just fluid enough; the curtains of the eye are kept in just the right place and the tension is just what it ought to be.

If the outflowing drains are stopped or the fluid secreting tissues work overtime or the two forces operate simultaneously there is an accumulation of fluid, which passes by the name of glaucoma.

The cases are divided into two groups—primary glaucoma and secondary glaucoma. The cases called primary glaucoma are those in which no cause can be found. If a cause can be found the case is said to be of secondary glaucoma.

In some cases of secondary glaucoma it is possible to cure or remove the cause and in that way cure the glaucoma. In primary glaucoma, since no cause can be found, it follows that no cure can be found. Such cases, as a rule, go on to blindness.

In most cases, whether the condition is curable or not, an operation by which an opening is made in the iris relieves pain and makes life more comfortable. Through this opening some fluid can drain off, the pressure in the eyeball is equalized, and in this way comfort is promoted.

Some cases are treated with eserine and pilocarpine with satisfaction. On the other hand, the use of atropine or any of the atropine group of drugs in glaucoma occasionally results disastrously.

In fact, the only ground I have ever seen for the slush written by the unknown about the danger of using "drops" in testing the eyes for glaucoma is based on such danger in cases of glaucoma.

A person notices that his vision is not up to par. Really his trouble is glaucoma, but he does not know it. He goes to a doctor.

THE MAJORITY FOR THE 18TH AMENDMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—I have received a letter from a Mr. P. T. Vaughn of Fort Dodge, Ia., in which he says, after quoting something I had said, that he exhorts me to obey the Ten Commandments, and adds, "I would like to ask the good bishop where does he get any authority to say that the prohibition amendment was adopted by the overwhelming vote of the nation?" I have not answered this query until I was able to get away and to verify the exact facts on which I based this statement. I will now give you the facts and you may make any use you see fit of them.

The vote in favor of submitting the national prohibition amendment was in the federal house 281 for and 128 against. In the United States senate it was 65 for and 20 against. In the state legislatures the total vote of the state senates was 1,188 for ratification and 213 against. The vote of the state houses was 1,188 for and 213 against. The total vote of the state legislatures was 3,739 for ratification to 834 against, or 80 per cent dry. Before the federal law was enacted thirty-two of the forty-eight states had passed prohibition laws of their own. After the amendment was submitted forty-five of the forty-eight state legislatures voted to ratify, although only thirty-six legislatures were required for ratification.

The wet forces contended that this law was enacted while the soldiers were out of the country and that if the soldiers had a chance to vote on it the result would be different. On the contrary, when ratification was concluded the soldiers were back in the country, and upon their return the soldiers unmistakably showed their sympathy for the law. For instance, in Ohio prohibition originally carried by 25,000 majority. When the legislature ratified the amendment they attached a referendum clause and the matter was voted on by the people, after the return of the soldiers in that state, and the state approved the ratification of the prohibition amendment by the legislature, giving more than 200,000 majority, or roughly eight times the previous majority.

SALES TAXES, COAL PRICES, ETC.
Chicago, Dec. 29.—Mr. David R. Forgan in an address yesterday before the Chicago Association of Commerce is reported as favoring a sales tax, and as having declared:

"A man making $2,000 a year is just as able to pay $40 tax as the man making $20,000 a year is to pay $400."

If Mr. Forgan has been correctly quoted and if this is one of the main arguments for a sales tax, it certainly is the best argument against it as yet. As common sense will convince any one that the man earning $2,000 must deprive himself of necessities in order to pay the $40 tax, while the man with an income of $20,000 pays it out of his surplus or merely must curtail his expenses for luxuries.

Under name data George Otis Smith, director of the U. S. Geological Survey, urges consumer to stop leaks at his end to reduce the cost of coal, by purchase of coal during the summer, etc. All producers and dealers admit the purchasing power of the dollar has grown. Does it buy more coal, or have their prices been reduced? The banks were charging from 10 to 40 per cent for loans during the past two years, but I have not seen any dealers prepared to cut their prices to the consumers even 10 per cent to induce consumers to buy their coal during the summer. It is claimed the miners received more than 200,000 majority, or roughly eight times the previous majority.

RELATING POLITICS TO CRIME.
Chicago, Dec. 30.—Tonight's paper has an account of Edward Doherty being sentenced to from three to twenty-three years in prison because he held up two men in order to secure money with which to buy his children bread.

Tim Murphy and his kind are walking the streets today. Of course, he stole only $350,000, and from the government, too.

The guiding lights of our city, I think, the police, are themselves immensely in such characters as Tim Murphy and Tommy O'Connor because they are of use to them in their political aspirations.

Let's have less graft, less politics, and more service and common sense, which we have elected our city representatives. Why should Murphy be free and another man in prison for a much less crime?

POLITICS BLOCKS NICKEL FARES AND SUBWAYS

Insull Tells Aldermen of "Curse."

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

What Chicago transportation needs most is to get it out of politics," declared Samuel Insull yesterday to the council committee on local transportation. "Politics is the curse and I would say it to the newspapers, to the public, to everyone. I would say it on this floor as well as on other floors," he raised his eyes in the direction of the fifth floor of the city hall where Mayor William Hale Thompson has his office.

Politics has not only interfered with, but has prevented to date a reduction in car fares. The city administration, through Attorney Chester Cleveland, has repeatedly and vigorously protested that a wage cut is unnecessary to obtain a 5 cent surface line fare. A wage cut would offend the street car men, and for the sake of their votes the city administration does not want to offend them.

Saving Is Suggested.

The Illinois Commerce commission has suggested that $6,900,168 might be saved in the operation of the surface lines this year "by reduction in the cost of operation to be secured by the adoption of the Beeler (rerouting) plan and by further reduction in the price of materials, salaries of general officers, office employees and wages of men."

Federal Judges Carpenter, Evans and Page have suggested to both city and commission what they considered "the orderly, rational and legal method" of reducing car fares. Briefly:

1. Make the economies first, then reduce fares accordingly. Some of the commissioners said privately yesterday they proposed to follow that program, but it is reported that the city hall is backing. A list of city conductors and fifty motormen from the 77th street car depot, Kedzie depot, Lincoln depot and Cottage Grove depot has been compiled, which is said to be in the possession of the city hall. This shows that the fifty conductors earned for the year ending July 31 last a total of $114,740, or an average of $2,294. The earnings of the fifty motormen was $113,688, an average of $2,273. Yesterday, it is said that the city hall took the position that it cannot politically afford to openly urge that these wages be cut.

More Politics on Subways. More politics is evident in the failure to provide the people with adequate rapid transit facilities. The mayor has indicated that he is opposed to subway construction, except under his plan, which means delay. The council transportation committee has indicated that it favors immediate action. Then again, why has the city administration so vigorously fought for a 5 cent fare on the surface lines and has not as vigorously fought for a 5 cent fare on the elevated? Mr. Insull told the committee yesterday that he had not seen a single statement contending that it is financially possible to operate the "L" lines on a nickel fare.

Neither had Britton I. Budd, chairman of the elevated. The rate hearing of the elevated roads before the commerce commission was postponed yesterday without date because everybody was not ready, although the new was started last September. Among the main points in the speech of Mr. Insull to the local transportation committee, pledging cooperation, were the following: He favors more rapid transit at once, municipal subways; holds that municipal operation recently does not promise Chicago much; believes that additional legislation is needed by the city to acquire surface and elevated lines, and above all, he wants action.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a red skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the burning and discomfort. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

NEW WINTER GARDEN RESTAURANT (Self-Service)

"HAVING heard a great deal about the New Winter Garden Self-Service Restaurant, I did not have occasion to visit the place until last evening. I want to state that I was very favorably impressed with both the service and quality of food, and particularly the service. In fact, the general atmosphere of the place breathes refinement and willingness to serve. * * You have provided everything in such a splendid way that to my notion nothing has been left undone to furnish what a great many other cafeterias lack. * * If any one comes out with a bigger check than he expected, it is only due to the fact that the food is prepared in such a delicious and appetizing manner that one will probably select more than he can eat or really cares for. * * I will surely recommend the New Winter Garden to all my friends. Permit me to wish you success.

Yours truly,"
(Original on File)

VOLUNTARY expressions, such as the above, are not infrequent. The New Winter Garden is a restaurant of many innovations, and makes a strong appeal to all who wish the best, at economical prices.

THE CHILDREN AND GEORGE WASHINGTON

More Entries in the Race for $11,650 in The Tribune's Prizes for School Children and Teachers.

Here are more of the essays by boys and girls entered in the George Washington prize contest being conducted by The Tribune. The contest closes on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

Studied with Care.

Probably Washington was much like other boys, but one quality stood out in his character, truthfulness. He had a fine father; many of his habits George inherited from him. The cherry tree story, which is known to every girl and boy, shows well his honesty. George's mother taught him to respect God and reverence His teachings. He inherited from her his temper and spirit of command.

Washington did not have what we now would call a good education. His lessons were written out with care. He learned to write the English language remarkably well. Washington liked plain sports and was fond of girls. He was a daring horseman and it was in a hunting chase that he won the admiration of Lord Fairfax.

When a boy of 15 he wrote a set of fifty-seven rules, which he followed through life. Of the many narrow escapes in his life one stands out; this was in the battle near Fort Duquesne. In this battle he had two horses shot from under him and four bullets passed through his coat. In spite of his control over his temper, one thing would make him lose it. That was cowardice.

When he was 67 years old a cold gathered on his lungs and he died. His last words were, "It is well." So died the man who was, and will be, "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Best Loved American.

Out of the lists of great Americans the best known and best loved is George Washington. He is the best known because he was the indispensable man of his time. There was no other man living at this period who was fitted to take his place and perform his stupendous work. When he drew his sword in 1775 he knew his country would conquer, and nothing could shake his faith or cause him to falter in the work to which he had dedicated his life. This great work, as every true American knows, was the gaining of independence for America.

After the revolutionary war was over and our independence secured Washington the soldier became Washington the statesman. Again he was indispensable in organizing the machine

'SAVE THE TREES,' MEN OF MIDDLE WEST URGE U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—In advocating the Snell-McCormick forestry bill before the house committee on agriculture today W. L. Hall, representing the Union League club of Chicago, declared that the newly purchased national forests in the eastern states have been better than a 4 per cent investment for the government.

Mr. Hall presented resolutions from the Union League club endorsing the Snell-McCormick bill and advocated a provision of the Snell bill appropriating $50,000,000 for purchase of additional lands in all sections of the country for national forests, the expenditure to be distributed over a period of years.

Henry C. Campbell, editor of the Milwaukee Journal, speaking of Wisconsin's forestry problem, declared that disaster would confront the nation unless a more comprehensive program of timber conservation were embraced.

Nothing could be simpler than wetting the scalp a few times with Kloria. And the results from the very first application will show how easily this scalp annoyance can be ended by a few of these simple treatments. It stops the itching almost immediately, and is as harmless as water to the hair.

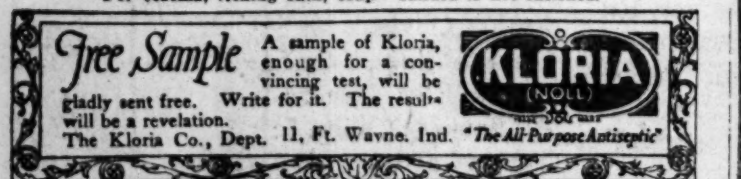

Kloria is the new and wonderful antiseptic, discovered in the world war, which by scientific test, is over 40 times more germ-killing than carbolic acid. This great germicidal power is what makes it so effective.

Yet Kloria is not poisonous, doesn't burn or irritate, is soothing, pleasant, safe, and more healing than anything else ever known.

For eczema, itching skin, eruptions and irritations, Kloria has an almost magic effect. Wounds, sores, boils and burns often heal in one-fourth the usual time. Test it for pyorrhea (sore, bleeding gums) and notice how easily the soreness and bleeding disappear—usually in one week. As a mouth-wash, it really destroys the acid-forming bacteria, thus preventing tooth-ache. As a gargle, it relieves sore throat most promptly. Harmless, yet far more effective than any poisonous antiseptic for personal hygiene.

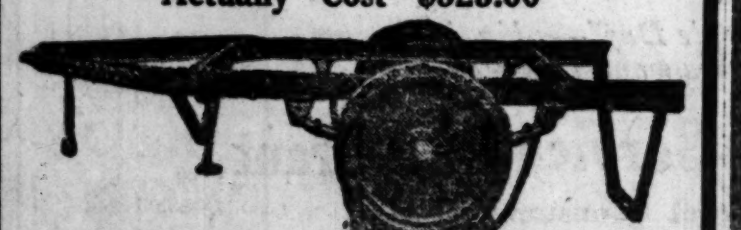

Dissolve a few Kloria Tablets in water, and instantly you have, at a cost of a few cents, a large bottle of liquid antiseptic which is clean, colorless, stainless and usually odorless.

All druggists. 50c. Money refunded if not satisfied.

COHAN AGAIN TO PRODUCE PLAYS FOR U. S. STAGE

New York, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—

George M. Cohan, who announced his retirement as an American producing manager when the Actors' Equity association extended the Equity rules to his attractions, has reconsidered his decision and will again bring the production of plays here in the near future. At a meeting of the Producing Managers' association today Cohan was unanimously re-elected to membership.

Cohan declared tonight that he was endeavoring to call off or postpone his contemplated London productions.

If Peoria Came to Chicago

If the entire population of Peoria came to Chicago in one day, and without previous notice decided to take a ride on the "L," you might think it would cause congestion.

A similar situation has to be met almost daily. The population of Peoria as shown in the 1920 census report is 76,121. The difference in the number of passengers carried on the "L" on Tuesday and on Wednesday of last week was 78,672.

No reason can be found for this fluctuation, but it is a matter of almost daily occurrence. It is one of the things which makes local transportation such a problem. It accounts for some trains being crowded, even in non-rush hours. Although traffic is checked carefully every day and service provided accordingly, it is impossible to gauge accurately such fluctuations.

If you see a train crowded in non-rush hours, wait for the next one, which is almost sure to be half-filled. Trains are run on short intervals.

Why Spark Plugs Should Be Changed for Winter Driving

In cold weather you need a fat, hot spark to ignite the fuel properly and get a smooth-running engine.

So if your engine starts hard, if it misses, splutters and runs jerkily, don't blame it on the carburetor or the piston rings. Probably all you need is a new set of AC Spark Plugs.

There's nothing like the old reliable AC to keep an engine running smoothly all the time.

The car manufacturer knows that and therefore most fine cars, trucks and tractors are factory-equipped with AC Plugs.

The aviator, the speed-boat pilot and the racing driver know that and insist that their engines be equipped with AC's.

What is good for experts like these is good for you and your car.

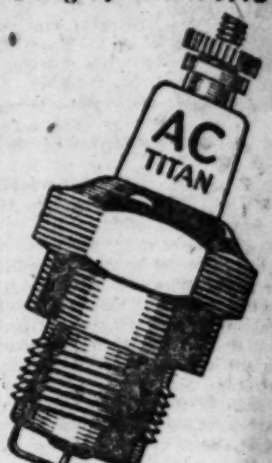

Go to any good dealer today and get a complete set of AC Spark Plugs specially designed for your car.

Ford Owners: The best plug you can buy is the famous AC Carbon Proof for Fords. If your Ford dealer doesn't carry this plug, any other good dealer can supply you promptly.

Will your "Good Morning" last all day?

Easy to start from the breakfast table with zest and enthusiasm, but how easy is it to keep on?

Does ambition last, or lag, as the day develops?

The afternoon "slump" is a factor to be counted upon, in business or social life.

Usually, there's a reason.

Nerves whipped by tea or coffee won't keep on running, and they won't stand constant whipping.

Many a man or woman who has wished the afternoon would be as bright as the morning has simply been wishing that the nerves wouldn't have to pay the natural penalty for being whipped with the caffeine drug.

Postum gives a breakfast cup of comfort and cheer, without any penalties afterward. There's no "letting down" from Postum—no midday drowsiness to make up for midnight wakefulness; no headaches; no nervous indigestion; no increase of blood pressure.

Think it over. There's full satisfaction in Postum—a cup of comfort for anybody (the children included), any time.

You can get Postum from your grocer or your waiter today, and probably you'll begin to have better tomorrows, as so many thousands have had, who have made the change from coffee to Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Have Color in Cheeks

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes—no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Motor Manufacture Extend Trade

New York, Jan. 10.—The plan to establish an export automobile manufacturing center in the United States, a head cost of foreign manufacturers in extending their business in the United States, is being considered by the National Automobile Manufacturers Association.

MRS. E. M. PHELPS' WILL LEAVES CASH TO AIDS

Share in $500,000 Estate of Widow.

Under the terms of the will of Mrs. E. M. Phelps, widow of the wealthy shoe manufacturer, Erskine M. Phelps, Democratic leader and friend of the late President Grover Cleveland, an estate of $500,000 was left to relatives and friends. The will was filed for probate yesterday.

Mrs. Phelps, who lived at 5017 Greenwood avenue, was a prominent member of the Woman's Athletic club of Chicago, the Chicago Woman's club, and the Fortnightly.

William F. Carlson, private secretary to both Mr. and Mrs. Phelps, was left $10,000. Karl Wahl, the family chauffeur, was given the same sum, while each of the other servants was given sums ranging from $5,000 to $10,000.

Six nephews each receive $20,000 and eight nieces are remembered in the will with $10,000. The ten other relatives are the beneficiaries to the extent of $5,000 apiece.

Eight trust funds for the benefit of relatives are established under the terms of the will in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $125,000.

The rest of the estate was divided among John E. Wilder, Mrs. Alice Wilder McClelland, Mrs. Marion W. Day, Mrs. Marjorie Emery, and Miss Anna A. Emery, her daughter, who are the brother, three sisters, and niece of Mrs. Phelps.

Mrs. McClelland receives an additional $100,000 and the Phelps home in Greenwood avenue, together with the income from a $125,000 trust fund. The brother is given real estate holdings in Lancaster and in Sterling, Mass., and received an additional $10,000.

Motor Manufacturers to Extend Trade in Europe

New York, Jan. 10.—Proposals to establish an export combine of thirteen automobile manufacturers to get large credits, resources, and reduce overhead cost of foreign trade were taken under consideration today by delegates to the convention of export managers of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

The plan as proposed by G. F. Bauer, secretary of the organization's foreign trade committee, is said to provide facilities for American automobile manufacturers to compete with foreign manufacturers in extending credits to European distributors.

CLUB PRESIDENT

JAMES CLARKE JEFFERY.

JAMES CLARKE JEFFERY was elected president of the Iroquois club at its annual meeting held Monday night. In his speech of acceptance, Mr. Jeffery announced his policy would be the abandonment of the forty years old rule that excluded women from membership. Mr. Jeffery is also president of the Yale club of Chicago, a member of the board of directors in the Chicago Bar association, and a member of the University club. The Iroquois club is contemplating the purchase of the building about to be vacated by the Elks club, 174 West Washington street.

G. O. P. LEADER, IN CONGRESS 10 YEARS, IS DEAD

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Clarence B. Miller of Duluth, Minn., secretary of the Republican national committee and former congressman, died at a hospital here late today. He was operated on for appendicitis Jan. 2, and his condition became critical due to heart trouble.

Mr. Miller was born in Goodhue county, Minnesota, in 1872, and received his education in this state. Establishing a law practice in Duluth, Mr. Miller was elected state representative, serving in the 1907 legislative session, and the next year was elected to congress from the Eighth Minnesota district. He served ten years in congress, until defeated in 1918 by William L. Cares.

'HONEST' VALUES FEATURE AUTOS AT N. Y. SHOW

BY JOHN JENKINS.

New York, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Ten thousand people, ranging from the taxi cab driver who "promotes" a pass from a thrifty fare, to the heiress looking for aesthetic detail in a car, visited the National Automobile show today. Few were disappointed. There was variety enough to go around, but the variety, for the first time in four years was entirely free from inflation, both as to price and construction.

One tour of the huge Grand Central palace is sufficient proof that the automobile industry has recognized a new business era in the United States, and is prepared to lead the procession of manufacturers "out of the woods" in 1922.

"Back to Honest Values."

This movement back to honest values is seen first in the superb construction of the 1922 car. It—the composite of fifty new models unveiled here—is a car stripped of every unnecessary ounce in weight and working parts. Its economy does not stop at the price mark, but goes clear through the operating schedule. In building for the coming year, every manufacturer of importance has based his work on the public need for better transportation and is offering the lightest, swiftest, and cheapest vehicle that quantity production, cheaper labor, and better materials allow.

Low "Gas" Consumption.

A few of the industrial leaders are featuring cheap operation as their year's chief stock in trade. Some are guaranteeing record breaking gasoline mileage—signing up with the buyer to back their claims that the new cars will run nineteen to twenty-five miles to the gallon of gasoline. Some are guaranteeing better service for the life of the new car. Some are backing up their new motors with contracts protecting the buyer for a year.

"We're all down on the ground again," declared Capt. Eddie Ticken, the American ace, turned manufacturer, in announcing prices ranging from $1,485 to $1,985 on open and closed models of his new six.

WOMAN POLITICAL CHIEF DIES. Sapulpa, Okla., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Warren H. Brown, 42, vice chairman of the Republican state committee, died at her home here today after a brief illness.

PECKINPAUGH, BY TRADE, BECOMES SENATORS' PILOT

New York, Jan. 10.—Harry Frazee, president of the Boston American league baseball club, tonight announced completion of a three-cornered deal by which Roger Peckinpaugh, former Yankee shortstop, goes to the Washington club as playing manager, and Joe Dugan, Athletics' third baseman, is transferred to the Boston team.

Peckinpaugh, who was captain of the Yankee team last season, was traded to Boston last month with Pitchers Rip Collins, Jack Quinn, and Bill Flory in exchange for Everett Scott, Red Sox shortstop, and Pitchers Joe Bush and Sam Jones.

Macks Get Two Players.
In addition to Dugan, the Boston club receives Shortstop Frank O'Rourke of the Washington club. Philadelphia gets Outfielder Ed Miller and Pitcher Acosta of the Washington club in exchange for Dugan.

So far as the Boston club is concerned, Frazee said, no money consideration was involved in the trade. An official of the Yankee club stated tonight that the New York Americans some time ago and purchased $50,000, which was refused.

Connie Mack, Athletics' manager, is said to have insisted on $100,000 as the purchase price.

Clark Griffith Ticked.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—Clark C. Griffith, president of the Washington club, declared tonight that the coming of Roger Peckinpaugh to his club would make it a contender in the pennant race. He expressed the utmost enthusiasm over the three-cornered deal concluded here today.

Formal announcement of the result of the negotiations was made tonight simultaneously with a similar announcement in New York. In the exchange, Griffith emphasized that no money was involved in the exchange.

"Peck" Pleased with Deal.
Cleveland, O., Jan. 10.—If I am able to play up to shortstop, Washington ought to do pretty well in the American league race next season," declared Roger Peckinpaugh tonight when informed that the deal which makes him playing manager of the Nationals had been completed.

"It's great news and I certainly am happy," Peckinpaugh continued. "I am pleased that Washington did not give up First Baseman Joe Judge to get me from Boston, as I regard him one of the best in the game."

JOHNSON LEAGUE TO HOLD ANNUAL GATHERING HERE

Gents who sign the pay checks for players in the American league will be requested to gather in Chicago on Feb. 12 for their annual spring convocation. Ban Johnson, league chief, announced yesterday that he would issue a call for the above date. The National leaguers will hold their session in New York, probably two days after the junior circuit magnates meet here.

About the only important thing the two leagues will have on their hands at that time is the draft question. The advisory council's recent decision to set a $7,500 price to get the class AA leaguers to submit to the player selection will have to be passed on by the owners, and there is every indication of their accepting it.

Windy City Bowling Meet Opens at Crouse's Alleys

The tenth annual tournament of the Windy City Bowling association will open Friday night at Crouse's Central alleys in Cicero and will continue until Feb. 5. The entry list shows that 175 teams will compete in the main event, 447 in the doubles, and 892 in the singles.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Two games in the Chicago league three cushion billiard race were played last night. At the Recreation, Klockheiser (60) defeated Capron (52), 60 to 50 in 65 innings. Klockheiser had a high run of 8, while Capron ran 5. At the Casino, Le Gros (30) defeated Duffy (48), 80 to 34 in 64 innings. Le Gros ran 6 and Duffy 4.

Sampson defeated Watson, 40 to 37. In the match three cushion tournament at Ben's.

At Foley's, Cornelson (35) beat Barons (21), 35 to 19. Delorme (25) and Young (22) play tonight.

SIX STRAIGHT FOR C. H. I. GIRLS.

The C. H. I. girls' basketball team last night won its sixth straight victory by defeating the Woodstock girls, 22 to 14, at Woodstock, Ill. The C. H. I. team will play the Uptown Browns girls at the C. H. I. gym Friday night.

BRENNY BUDDIES WIN GAMES.

The Second Presbyterian Buddies, 120 pound team, defeated the Lawrence Ave. 38 to 2. The basket shooting of Fred Nixon and Gus McArthur featured.

GRAND CIRCUIT STEWARDS FIX 1922 SCHEDULE

Cleveland, O., Jan. 10.—The stewards of the Grand circuit today adopted a schedule for 1922 harness horse racing, opening the season at North Randall track, Cleveland, the week of July 3 and closing at Atlanta, Ga., the week of Oct. 16.

The application of the Kenilworth park, Windsor, Ont., for a date was not granted. Other Grand circuit dates were awarded the same time as last year.

The schedule follows:
Week of July 3, North Randall; July 10, Toledo; July 17, Kalamazoo; July 24, Columbus; July 31, Toledo; Aug. 7, North Randall; Aug. 14, Philadelphia; Aug. 21, Poughkeepsie; Aug. 28, Reading; Sept. 4, Hartford; Sept. 11, Syracuse; Sept. 18 and 25, Columbus; Oct. 2 and 9, Lexington, Ky.; and Oct. 16, Atlanta, Ga.

RICKARD DROPS MANAGER FLYNN

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Leo P. Flynn is out at Madison Square garden. Notwithstanding denials to the contrary, Flynn, who has served in an advisory capacity to Tex Rickard in the making of matches at the garden for a long time will sever his connection with the management shortly. Both Flynn and Rickard today declined to discuss the matter. Rickard would have it believed that Flynn never had any official connection with the management and was only a tenant in the building. Whether Flynn's big stable of fighters will cease to show at the garden in future remains to be seen.

KRONE BIDS FOR BOUT OF KILONIS-MEYERS

The proposed Kilonis-Meyers wrestling bout under the new rules that provide for ten minute rounds has made a hit with Doc Krone, who evidently believes it will make a hit with the fans of Chicago.

Krone has put in a bid for the contest and incidentally has created a precedent that promises to help further in re-instating the sport in the good graces of the public.

Krone submitted to Ed White, manager of Johnny Meyers, a sealed bid for the bout, suggesting that the bid remain sealed, with any others that White may receive, for ten days, at the expiration of which time it and the others be opened in the presence of a member of the city athletic commission, under the supervision of which the bout will be held.

Inasmuch as this is the first wrestling bout under the jurisdiction of the new commission and under the new rules, Krone contends that all bids for it should also be presented in a businesslike manner.

"I am strong for the new commission and also the Kilonis-Meyers match under the new rules providing for the match by rounds," said Krone yesterday. "Kilonis and Meyers are both clever and fast wrestlers and with the round system to pep them up I feel sure the public will be given a first class entertainment of a sort never before seen anywhere in the country. Wrestling will be conducted on business lines hereafter and I think it will be on the square and up and up."

New York Boxing Board to Hear Wilson Case Tuesday

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, recently suspended for failure to keep a contract to box Harry Greb in the garden, will have a hearing before the New York state athletic commission next Tuesday.

A NORTHERN SHRIKE.
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Dear Bob: "A winter migrant of more than ordinary interest is a northern shrike that I have been watching for the last five years. I first spotted him on a week-end visit I first spotted him in a patch of sunnyside at the south end of Lake Park. That was Feb. 12, 1918. In 1919 he was waiting for me in the same place on Feb. 16. On Jan. 2, 1920, I spotted the bird within 300 yards of where I had found him in previous years. The winter of 1920-1921 I missed him and thought he was gone for good.

"Just the other day Herb Stoddard, S. Paul Jones, and I were rambling along the lake shore. I told them about the shrike. When we got to the favored spot there was Mr. Shrike perched as nice as you please. While we were watching him he saw a sparrow that we were trying to identify and took the little fellow for his meal. We chased the shrike and his victim for more than a mile, but the shrike never let go. Finally our quarry got away in a patch of woods.

"It is so seldom that one hears of a returning winter migrant that I thought you might like to hear about him."—Clarence S. Jung.

MANY OFFERS AWAIT TATE ON RETURN HOME

Bill Tate, recognized colored heavyweight champion of the world, and his manager, Howard Carr, yesterday returned from Portland, Ore., where the local fighter wrestled the laurels from Harry Wills last week.

The big fighter and his manager found many offers awaiting them. Portland promoters want Tate to meet Fred Fulton early next month, while New Orleans is anxious to rematch Tate to rematch Tate with Billy Haak, the Memphis promoter, wants to pit Tate against some worthy opponent, as does Jack Kanner of Denver and Promoter Boyce of Omaha. Carr's promise to Gary promoters to show Tate is holding up acceptance of any one of the offers.

Carr was loud in his praise for his fighter as a result of the Portland match.

"Tate won the title by winning the first fight on a foul," Manager Carr said. "The referee was honest in his decision, but the crowd, which had expected to see an interesting mill, was disappointed when the fight terminated in the first round.

"I was asked by the promoters, for the good of the boxing game, to agree to a second match. This I did and Tate went into that fight with everything to lose and nothing to win. Needless to state he made a great hit with the crowd, who received him warmly as the colored heavyweight champion of the world."

Frankie Schaeffer, local lightweight, started training yesterday at the Arcade for a ten club with Pete Mistle at Grand Rapids on Jan. 27.

Jimmy Kelly, matched to meet Stanley Everett at Peoria Jan. 17, worked at the Arcade, where he boxed four rounds with two different sparring partners.

Charley White, one of the strong contenders for the lightweight crown held by Benny Leonard, worked at Peretti's. White will finish hard training today and leave for

FARM AND GARDEN

WANT ADS ON TREES INJURE BARK AND VIOLATE LAW.
NAILING signs on trees not only injures them, opening up a way for decay producing organisms to do their work, causing but it is a violation of the law.

"Dog Lost," "Garage for Rent," "Vote for Reflection of Alderman," the People's Friend," and similar signs are tacked or nailed on thousands of trees in Chicago and along the highways that lead into the city. Not many of the dogs, fountain pens and belt buckles advertised for in these shade tree want ads are worth anything like as much as the injury done to the trees where the signs are spiked.

Trees should be protected against thoughtless persons injuring them by stabbing their sides with everything from pins to spikes. Section 1728 of the Chicago code of 1911 provides that no person shall attach any poster to any tree growing in any street or public highway. This includes the ordinary parkway trees that carry the big burden of signs.

There is no law preventing owners from placing signs on trees and such a law is perhaps not needed. Fortunately there is a law providing for the owner to proceed against other persons tacking signs on his trees. Persons violating the law are easily found because the advertisements would be worthless without addresses or telephone numbers.

Sammy Mandell of Rockford and Jack Ellis, local bantamweight, who meet in the main event of the boxing show to be held aboard the U. S. S. Commodore on Friday night, worked out at the Arcade. These steeple 118 pounders fought a ten round draw on the occasion of their first meeting.

Billy McMain, an old time fight manager who is looking after the interests of Terry Kellar, Salt Lake heavyweight, wants to pit his fighter against Bill Tate. Manager Carr is willing to make the match providing a ten club will stage it.

Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, who will meet George Corbett of the stockyards before a suburban club on Friday night, is training at the Arcade.

MICHIGAN FIVE
DOWNS MAROONS
BY 21-16 COUNT

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Michigan staged a comeback in the conference tilt with Chicago here tonight, defeating the Maroons, 21 to 16.

The return of Miller to the Wolverine line-up made the Michigan team a stronger one than that which faced Ohio State and enabled the Maize and Blue five to hold a lead during a greater part of the game. Poor "Bill" McGuire fouled shooting by Michigan kept the score low.

Hold Maroons to Three Baskets.

So well did the Michigan defense function that Chicago was able to score but three field baskets while Miller, who substituted for Reason during the first and second halves, did some excellent basket shooting and kept the Michigan team well in front.

McGuire played a good game for Chicago and scored ten points of his team's total from the free throw mark. Romney exhibited flashes of fast floor work which was held in check by the Michigan guards.

Kipke Scores Two Rangers.

Kipke, the football star, played the entire game for Michigan and located the basket twice from scrimmage. The score at the end of the first half was Michigan, 14; Chicago, 9. Lineup:

LOCAL KID SKATERS TO RACE MILWAUKEE

At a special meeting of the mayor's executive ice skating committee held yesterday in the city hall tentative plans were drawn for a dual meet between schoolboy teams representing Chicago and Milwaukee.

J. H. Gurley, director of athletics in the public schools at Milwaukee, attended the session and extended the local team an invitation to race the Cream City flyers. E. C. Delaporte, Director Gurley, also extended an invitation to the teams from New York and Cleveland to meet Chicago and Milwaukee in a four cornered meet.

Arrange Meet Next Week.

E. C. Delaporte, athletic director of the Chicago Public Schools Athletic League, and Herman Fischer, acting superintendent of playgrounds, will make a trip to Milwaukee next week to draw plans for the intercity meets.

Plans were made for holding the semi-finals in the city-wide skating meet in eight sections of the city on Saturday. Preliminary tests have been held at all playgrounds, and the qualifiers will come together on the weekend to determine the skaters who will meet in the finals.

Final Races on Jan. 21.

The finals will be held at Garfield park on Jan. 21. Officials will be selected from the board of education, parks, and playgrounds. It was announced the New York team will come west about Feb. 25 to meet the local squad, which will be chosen after the Jan. 21 finals.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

ONCE upon a time there was a young man who, having read his Plato and his Aristotle, decided with Pope that "the proper study for mankind is man."

He then entered the service of his home town and for twenty years he worked hard and studied, in return for a wage about equivalent to that of a steamfitter's helper.

At last his efforts began to bear fruit; his dreams of community service materialized in the form of a great municipal undertaking destined to bring comfort and happiness to his fellow citizens. He persuaded the city solons to authorize the undertaking and at last the work was under way.

So the man, no longer young, went forth upon the city streets to stretch his tired limbs and forget the cares of office. As he rested in the public park he overheard the idle talk of several fellow townsmen and the talk was concerning his great undertaking.

He knew the work was good and so he listened, and this is what he heard about himself: "Clever duck! Wonder how much rakeoff he got?" F. R.

GRAIN FUTURES LAW IS UPHELD IN BRIEF OF U. S.

Chicago Board of Trade
Members Answered.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—The department of justice today filed in the Supreme court its brief in support of the constitutionality of the grain futures law, challenged by some members of the Chicago Board of Trade.

The law assesses a tax of 20 cents a bushel on all grain in each contract of sale for future delivery, except where such sales are made by a member of a board of trade which has been designated by the secretary of agriculture as a "contract market."

The Chicago Board of Trade, through whose 1,800 members is transacted a large part of the grain and provision business of the world, applied to the secretary of agriculture for designation as a "contract market." Eight members of the Board of Trade requested the officers and directors to take steps to contest the validity of the statute.

Members File Suit.

Upon their declaration, the eight members themselves filed the suit, naming the Chicago Board of Trade, its officers and directors, the secretary of agriculture, and other government officials as defendants, claiming that the statute was unconstitutional, because the tax was prohibitive of "trading in futures" and was but a mere regulation of the business of the boards of trade and chambers of commerce of the country, which congress had no authority to undertake under the taxing power.

Judge Landis denied relief and dismissed the suit. On appeal to the Supreme court the latter issued an injunction to maintain the status quo, but allowed the Chicago Board of Trade to apply for and to be designated by the secretary of agriculture as a "contract market." The arguments begin before the Supreme court tomorrow.

Charge Made by Wilson.

The brief discloses that President Wilson in February, 1917, in a communication to the federal trade commission, called attention to rumors that the "course of trade in important food products is not free, but is restricted and controlled by artificial and illegal means."

In September, 1920, the federal trade commission submitted an elaborate report to congress entitled "Future Trading Operations in Grain," and listed "future trading" as a species of gambling. This report furnished the basis for further hearings before the house and senate committees on agriculture. Senator Capper had charge of the bill in the senate before both the committee and the senate.

The brief sets forth that "future trading" in grain amounts some years to more than 20,000,000,000 bushels, or three times all the grain produced on the globe, while the actual amount of grain which changes hands in Chicago, where five-sixths of this trading is done, is a small fraction of 1 per cent of these billions of bushels. Transactions in 1919 amounted to fifty-one times the amount of wheat produced in the United States.

Special Selling—Reed and Fibre Furniture

THERE are several hundred pieces of Reed and Fibre Furniture in this Selling, at such low prices that one can buy new things with a feeling of extraordinary economy. In some instances there is only one of a kind, and in others there are several which match each other. In any case, because of the number of pieces put on sale, there is such variety that many a Table, Chair, Settee or Tea Table could be found for one's house—whether it be a city apartment or a country cottage. Some are sketched:

Reed Rocker, $13.75
finished in frosted brown, with cretonne seat cushion.

Tea Wagon, $15.75
of brown reed, with removable upper tray.

Fibre Settee, $15.75
in brown, with cretonne cushions and spring seat.

Armchair, $9.75
Comfortable, well-made, of old ivory fibre.

Fibre Rocker, $13.75
in brown, with cretonne cushions, and spring seat.

Bird Cage, $10.75
and tall Stand in dark brown reed. Simple design.

Fibre Table, $12.50
of frosted brown, very staunchly built.

Fibre Rocker, $8.75
in frosted brown with cretonne seat cushion.

An Overstuffed Sofa, Special, $169

VERY specially priced is an overstuffed Sofa of splendid construction and luxurious comfort. Its lines are not too heavy for a room of medium size, in spite of its spacious build. There are three grades of covering, priced accordingly: $117 or $132 for velour and tapestry, and $169 for mohair. The Chair to match is $64 and $72 for velour and tapestry, and $88 for mohair covers.

Double Day Beds, $65

THESE Day Beds are especially useful to the city family in an apartment where space is somewhat limited, because they can be so easily adapted to different needs. They are excellently constructed, and the upholstering materials are of standard quality. The coverings are velours, damask, and figured tapestry in several patterns; and there are two styles of end pieces at this price. Mattress and Pillow included.

Metal Bed Section,
Ninth Floor, State Street.

Clearance of Glassware

A NUMBER of Rock Crystal, Cut Glass or Colored Glass Vases, Bowls, Composites, Candlesticks, Perfume Bottles and other pieces have been much reduced in price for clearance. This is a valuable chance to pick up choice Glass—from fine cut crystal pitchers to thin goblets—for there are many lovely and distinguished things which may be bought most economically. Sherbets, Grape Juice Glasses and Tumblers in light cut and etched patterns are specially priced at 15c, 18c, 30c, and 35c.

Dinner Set Specially Priced 32-Piece Set, $9.50

THIS Dinner Set is the "Cameronia" pattern, an English semi-porcelain of good texture, and is one of the most likeable things in our staple dinnerware. The dishes are gracefully shaped, and the design itself is very acceptable to those who wish distinctive, pleasing tableware for everyday use.

It is available in separate pieces and in these specially priced combinations: 32-piece set, $9.50; 51-piece set, $19.75; and 91-piece set, $32.50.

Second Floor, North, Wabash.

New Domestic Rugs Are Here

RICH colors which shine softly under the light, and new, desirable designs distinguish the new Domestic Rugs. The care accorded to the perfection of an art has been put into their manufacture, thus evolving great strength of weave, fine quality of texture, and symmetry and beauty of pattern.

Our stock has again reached very complete proportions, after a period of fluctuation caused by conditions over which we had no control. Many of the Rugs are produced by Marshall Field & Company—none of which are copied or standardized. The prices are delightfully moderate.

Wilton Rugs, 9x12, $115 to $120 Wool Wiltons, 9x12, $84

THIRD FLOOR, SOUTH, WABASH

A Dining Room Suite Very Moderately Priced

DESIGNING which adheres to the lines of the early Queen Anne period is responsible for much of the beauty of this Walnut Suite. It derives fine decorative quality from the symmetry of its forms and the beauty of its wood. And, above all, it is constructed and finished with the utmost care and vigilance for every detail. The prices are most modest for Furniture of such character. The Table is $135, the Sideboard, $175, China Cabinet, $105, Server, $77, Armchair, $33, and Side Chair, $27.50. The Chairs have blue denim seats.

Eighth Floor, North, Wabash.

Drapery Remnants Reduced in a Clearance

THIS Sale includes all short lengths and odd lots of Drapery and Upholstering Fabrics, Cretonnes and Curtain Materials.

There are lengths that can be used for draperies, furniture covers, pillow covers, window curtains and other sorts of interior decoration. Every piece is priced especially low for quick clearance.

Lace Curtains Also Reduced

SEVERAL thousand pairs of lace Curtains are very substantially reduced too. Among them are Irish Point, Nottingham, Brussels, and Madras Curtains. Whether your present supply has become worn from much laundering or not, this is a splendid time to provide against the day when such a thing will happen. The special prices permit of great savings.

Upholstering Section, Fifth Floor, Wabash Avenue.

Clearance of Plates by the Dozen

SOME of our very fine plates which are slightly imperfect or shopworn have been marked at greatly reduced prices. There are Service Plates, Salad Plates, Bread and Butter Plates, Dessert and Entree Plates—all so much less expensive than usual, that one can replenish the china cabinet with delighted enthusiasm.

Royal Doulton, Crown Staffordshire and Wedgwood are among the makers represented, and the shapes and patterns are varied enough to include both elaborate and simple styles. The reduced prices are $15 to $75 a dozen.

Second Floor, North, Wabash.

The January Clearance of Artwares

AT this time every year, many odd pieces and broken lines are reduced in price and grouped on special tables. There are such things as Oriental cloisonne Vases and Bowls, Incense Burners, Pottery, Smoking Stands, Ash Trays, and boxes of various sorts. By looking among them you might easily find some delightful bit which would bring interest to a hitherto neglected spot in the house.

Priced 50c to $10.

pena opened 100250 lower but later regained, practically all the loss being regained. Range of values was more contracted, nothing selling above $3.25, with Monday. Big shipping orders proved the strengthening factor. Packers purchased freely late.

More live featured the trade in cattle and values generally ruled steady. The cattle's bad case with some sales as much as 50c below late last week. Beef cattle offered sold at $5.00. A Canadian exporter sent a consignment to Liverpool this week bought here around $7.50, being the second purchase on foreign account since the first of the year.
